2	again my name is Adam Zurbriggen. I represent the	2	answer before we take any break.
3	City of Philadelphia and the other defendant	3	Is that all right?
4	individual police officers in this case.	4	A. Yes.
5	Have you ever given a civil	5	Q. And then, also, I know a lot of the
6	deposition before?	6	issues you and I talk about today are sensitive
7	A. No.	7	and can be upsetting. I apologize about that in
8	Q. Okay. I'm going to go over just a	8	advance. I really promise I don't want to make
9	few ground rules just to let you know how things	9	you uncomfortable in any way. So if you need to
10	are going to go. First of all, because there's a	10	take a break or pause, that's completely fine. I
11	court reporter here taking down everything that we	11	want you to be comfortable. Okay?
12	say, even though in a normal conversation we might	12	A. Yes.
13	not verbalize our answers, we might respond uh-huh	13	Q. And, finally, and I don't mean to
14	or un-unh or shake the head, I need you here, if	14	imply anything by this, but it's just something I
15	you would, please to verbalize all of your answers	15	have to ask.
16	yes or no.	16	Are you under the influence of any
17	Is that okay?	17	medication or is there any other reason why you
18	A. Yes.	18	can't testify truthfully today?
19	Q. And often times I will ask a	19	A. No.
20	question that may be very long and not	20	Q. All right. Ms. Alvarado, what's
21	comprehensible. I do that all the time. So,	21	your current date of birth?
22	please, if you don't understand anything I ask,	22	I'm sorry, not your current.
23	feel free, 100 percent free, to say I don't	23	What is your date of birth?

11	A. The day of the accident.	11	A. Yes.
12	Q. Where were you working the day of	12	Q. Okay. I'll come back to that a
13	the sorry, let me clarify.	13	little bit later. I want to ask you first about
14	By accident you're referring to the	14	the apartment, 4664 Torresdale Avenue.
15	date in June 2021 when your dog was shot?	15	You were living there on the date
16	A. Yes.	16	of the incident, June 4th of 2021; correct?
17	Q. Thank you.	17	A. Yes.
18	And where were you employed that	18	Q. And, specifically, you were living
19	day?	19	in a first-floor apartment in that at that
20	A. CRC.	20	building?
21	Q. And do you know what is CRC?	21	A. Yes.
22	A. A warehouse.	22	Q. And you first moved into that
23	Q. And is that in Philadelphia?	23	apartment in March of 2021; is that right?
24	A. It's like Pennsylvania.	24	A. Yes.

1	Q. But you're not sure what	1	Q. Okay. Where were you living
2	A. I'm not too I know it's in	2	immediately prior to moving into that building?
3	Philadelphia, but it's like, yeah, Philadelphia.	3	A. With my sister.
4	Q. Okay. And what did you do at CRC?	4	Q. And do you know your sister's
5	A. Picker.	5	address at that time?
6	Q. I'm sorry, a picker?	6	A. Yes.
7	A. A picker.	7	Q. What was that address?
8	Q. And what is a picker?	8	A. 4723 Torresdale Avenue.
9	A. Where an item will come in and then	9	Q. And that's nearby the building at
10	I would have to go get it.	10	4664 Torresdale; correct?
11	Q. Okay. How long were you employed	11	A. Yes.
12	at CRC?	12	Q. About how far?
13	A. I think maybe a month.	13	A. Diagonally, if I'm standing in
14	Q. And you said that you were employed	14	front of the door I can see her house.
15	there on the date of the incident?	15	Q. Okay. One other instruction, I
16	A. I was, yeah, but from the whole	16	guess, I should have given before we started. But
17	like, yes, I was.	17	just to remind, you know, there may be questions I
18	Q. Do you recall when you stopped, was	18	ask that might not know or might not know the
19	it a month after the incident?	19	answer to. It's perfectly okay to say I don't
20	A. I got fired.	20	know the answer. The one kind of exception to
21	Q. Okay. And that was about how long,	21	that is I might ask you to estimate sometimes in
22	if you know, after the incident was that?	22	terms of time, minutes, hours, days or in terms of
23	A. Two weeks.	23	distances, feet. If you can give a reasonable
24	Q. Okay. Prior to your working with	24	estimate, please do, but I don't want you to guess

3	But going back to the distance	3	Q. And where does Lucy live now, is
4	between your and your sister is Yara; right?	4	Lucy still in Philadelphia?
5	A. Yes.	5	A. Yes.
6	Q. So going back in terms of the	6	Q. Do you know Lucy's address?
7	distance between Yara's residence and 4664	7	A. No.
8	Torresdale, it was about a few minutes walk; is	8	Q. But just to confirm, you don't have
9	that right?	9	a copy of your lease agreement when you were at
10	A. Yes.	10	4664 Torresdale anymore; correct?
11	Q. Okay. How long had you been living	11	A. Yes.

A. My door was kicked down. MR. WEST: I apologize. What did you say, your dog was what? THE WITNESS: No. I said my door was kicked down. MR. WEST: Door was kicked down. I only asked because I didn't hear it. Sorry. MR. ZURBRIGGEN: That's fine. BY MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Q. So did you hear any knocking at the door before your door was kicked down? A. No. Q. Where were you when you first learned — you heard the door knocked down, where were you in the apartment? A. I saw — I was walking towards the	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	bird was screaming, I think you said, or squeaking? A. Yes, yes. Q. Okay. Where were you when you first heard the bird squeaking? A. In the bathroom. Q. And did you hear anything else when you were in the bathroom or just the bird? A. Just the bird. Q. So you didn't hear the dog barking at that point? A. I heard the bird. Q. Before you left the bathroom, did you hear the dog bark or did you hear the dog bark after you left the bathroom? A. It was after. Q. And, just to be clear, you were alone in the apartment at this time; correct? A. Yes. Q. Were the lights off in the apartment?

5	searching the apartment.	5	A. Yes.
6	Q. You said that you were on the floor	6	Q. It was more than five minutes?
7	in the kitchen; is that right?	7	A. Yes.
8	A. When they first kicked the door	8	Q. Before that five minutes was up,
9	down.	9	did any of the officers leave the apartment?
10	Q. Did the officers go past you in the	10	A. No.
11	kitchen?	11	Q. So they all stayed in the
12	A. Yes.	12	apartment?
13	Q. And they went further back into the	13	A. No. There were some that were in

2	Q. At some point I'm sorry, you	2	A. Yes.
3	look like you want to clarify. Go ahead.	3	Q. How many?
4	A. Yes. Once they went and saw that	4	A. They were coming in and out. There
5	they moved the curtains and realized that there	5	was like three.
6	was a wall and a window, they just left.	6	Q. Did any of these officers say
7	Q. At that point when that occurred,	7	anything to you at that point in time?
8	did any officers stay behind with you?	8	A. No.
9	A. Yes.	9	Q. Did you say anything to the 10	Q. How many?	10	officers at that point after you came out to
11	A. Two.	11	change?
12	Q. And, if you can estimate, about how	12	A. Yes.
13	long were you on the ground until you got off the	13	Q. What did you say?
14	ground?	14	A. I asked them what was going on.
15	A. A half an hour.	15	And they said that they couldn't tell me anything.
16	Q. And so what happened that prompted	16	Q. About how long were you sitting in
17	you to get up?	17	that chair, if you can say?
18	A. I want I asked to put on clothes	18	A. Until they left. Until they told

Mr. David Keith
The Victim's Recovery Loss Center
121 South Broad Street
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Keith,

I have reviewed the documents and submitted material provided to me concerning the incident that occurred on June 4, 2021. I have formulated seven opinions that I hold to a reasonable degree of probability and certainty in the field of police practices upon my training and experience:

- 1. SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by illegally entering into her 1st floor, front apartment without having the legal authority to do so while executing a search warrant for a defendant believed to be located inside the 2nd floor, rear apartment which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.
- 2. SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by executing the search warrant by forcibly ramming the door and not allowing her a reasonable amount of time to voluntarily surrender her residence which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.
- 3. Lieutenant Monk and Sergeant Mellody failed to supervise the operation properly from the "recon" of the residence to the execution of the search warrant.
- 4. The Philadelphia Police Department improperly investigated this incident and provided inconsistent information about what had occurred pertaining to the execution of the search warrant and breach of the residence of Felishatay Alvarado.
- 5. The Philadelphia Police Department violated Felishatay Alvarado's 4th Amendment rights when Officer Song discharged his firearm mortally wounding the dog that was considered property

Introduction

I was a member of the New Jersey State Police for twenty-two years as a member of the 121St State Police Class which graduated on April 24, 2001. I last held the rank of Lieutenant and was assigned as the Unit Head of the Special Investigations Unit at the Casino Gaming Bureau. My experience included 4 years as a Road Duty Trooper assigned to the Field Operations Section in Troop "A" which encompassed southern New Jersey from 2001 through 2005. During that time, I was assigned to the Bellmawr, Port Norris, and Woodbine Stations before being transferred to the Tactical Patrol Unit. As a road duty Trooper, my duties and responsibilities included conducting motor vehicle accident investigations and enforcing motor vehicle laws under Title 39. I also conducted criminal investigations concerning property thefts, burglaries, sex assaults, assaults, robberies, weapon offenses, and narcotics under the New Jersey Criminal Code Title 2C. I prepared several narcotic search warrants that led to the recovery of narcotics and U.S. currency. I have a vast knowledge of identifying confidential informants and utilizing them to solve open criminal investigations.

While assigned to the Field Operations Section, I had temporary tenures in the Alcohol Beverage Control Unit where I investigated alcohol related crimes under Title 33 and licensed premise investigations under Title 13. These investigations also involved working in an undercover capacity concerning alcohol, narcotics, and gambling investigations. I also worked temporarily as a station detective in the Criminal Investigation Office in Troop "A" where I conducted extensive and complex criminal investigations.

In January of 2006, I was transferred to the Digital Technology Investigations Unit where I conducted criminal investigations into the possession and distribution of child pornography and other crimes against children. I received training in the recovery and analyzation of digital evidence.

In September of 2006, I was then transferred to the Major Crime South Unit where I was responsible for investigating suspicious deaths, homicides, in-custody deaths, and deadly force incidents which mainly consisted of officer involved shootings. It was here I honed my skills and expertise in force encounters. I was a member of the Major Crime South Unit for fourteen years and was a Detective, Detective Sergeant, Detective Sergeant First Class, and Lieutenant all within the unit. I was a case detective, case manager, and incident commander during these complex and high-profile investigations. During this time, I was also assigned to the New Jersey Attorney General's Shooting Response Team. I was involved in nearly one hundred Deadly Force / In-Custody Death Investigations. I have testified in Grand Juries, Motions, and Trials pertaining to these investigations.

I was temporarily assigned to the New Jersey State Police Academy for the 158th State Police Class in 2018. I instructed recruits on the New Jersey Criminal Code, Constitutional Law pertaining to search and seizure, and conducting criminal investigations. During my tenure as a detective over approximately eighteen years, I had extensive knowledge in preparing search warrants affidavits and their constitutional requirement pertaining to residences, vehicles, cell phone call detail records, clothing, and other evidence vital to investigations. I have also supervised countless search warrant preparations and executions during that time. I attended yearly training in search and seizure issues as part as being a New Jersey State Trooper.

Page 6 of 57

I have attended training from around the country in the areas of how to conduct officer involved shooting investigations and deadly force incidents, and the different disciplines in those areas. I also became a use of force instructor through the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC) and currently instruct Police and Correction recruits in the standard of force at the Atlantic County Police Academy. I have also instructed on how to conduct officer involved shooting investigations to different law enforcement agencies around the State of New Jersey. I have also attended several different trainings and certifications in the human performance in force encounters. Understanding these principles can greatly affect how an individual can perceive and respond to a force encounter.

Prior to becoming a New Jersey State Trooper, I was a Campus Police Officer with the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, Department of Mental Health. I was assigned to an out-patient Mental Health Facility where I provided police and security for the employees, visitors, and patients. This included interacting with patients daily and providing restraints on patients who were in crisis. I have attended training on dealing with mentally ill individuals by the Massachusetts Police Training Commission as well as training in non-violent self-defense by the Department of Mental Health. I have completed annual training for the New Jersey State Police that pertains to dealing with mentally ill. As a Road Duty Trooper, I assisted and handled dozens of cases dealing with individuals who were in crisis and needed a psychiatric evaluation.

Legal Guiding Principles - This section contains foundational information for the basis of my opinions.

Fourth Amendment: The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.¹

Pennsylvania Constitution; Article 1, Section 8: Security from Searches & Seizures: The people shall be secure in their person, houses, papers, and possessions from unreasonable searches and seizures, and no warrant to search any place or to seize any person or things shall issue without describing them as nearly as may be, nor without probable cause, supported by oath of affirmation subscribed to by the affiant.²

Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code, Rule 207 which states;

"Rule 207 - Manner of Entry into Premises

- (A) A law enforcement officer executing a search warrant shall, before entry, give, or make reasonable effort to give, notice of the officer's identity, authority, and purpose to any occupant of the premises specified in the warrant, unless exigent circumstances require the officer's immediate forcible entry.
- (B) Such officer shall await a response for a reasonable period of time after this announcement of identity, authority, and purpose, unless exigent circumstances require the officer's immediate forcible entry.
- (C) If the officer is not admitted after such reasonable period, the officer may forcibly enter the premises and may use as much physical force to effect entry therein as is necessary to execute the search.³

See generally Commonwealth v. DeMichel, 277 A.2d 159 (Pa. 1971) with regard to paragraphs (A) and (B). Concerning paragraph (C), see Commonwealth v. Newman, 240 A.2d 795 (Pa. 1968)."

Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code, Rule 205, which states:

"Rule 205, Contents of Search Warrant

- (A) Each search warrant shall be signed by the issuing authority and shall:
- (1) specify the date and time of issuance;
- (2) identify specifically the property to be seized;
- (3) name or describe with particularity the person or place to be searched;
- (4) direct that the search be executed either;
- (a) within a specified period of time, not to exceed 2 days from the time of issuance, or;
- (b) when the warrant is issued for a prospective event, only after the specified event has occurred.⁴

Incident Summary

On June 4, 2021, officers from the Philadelphia Police Department executed a search warrant at the residence of Felishatay Alvarado located on the front, 1st floor apartment of 4664 Torresdale Street in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. This search warrant was a continuing investigation into an arrest warrant for a suspect in a homicide case that did not include Felishatay Alvarado or her residence. The search warrant was authorized for the rear, 2nd floor apartment of 4664 Torresdale Avenue. When officers breached the front door of her apartment with a knock and announce search warrant after only a brief period, they encountered Felishatay Alvarado and her service door. One officer discharged his firearm at the service dog mortally wounding it while other officers cleared the remainder of the residence. When officers realized they had made a mistake, they exited the apartment and walked to the rear of the building and entered into the rear door which led to the 2nd floor, rear apartment. The suspect was not located at that time.

Method of Analysis

In March of 2023 I was contacted by Attorney Keith West of the Victim Loss Recovery Center. He requested I review an incident that occurred in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania on June 4, 2021 when SWAT Officers from the Philadelphia Police Department executed a search warrant at 4664 Torresdale Avenue. I requested he send me all the documents/video pertaining to this incident. After I received all the pertinent information, I reviewed it in its entirety. I then formulated my opinions based on the totality of circumstances from the information provided in an impartial and objective manner. In reviewing the evidence in this case and forming my opinions, I have relied upon the education, experience, and training that I have obtained in over two decades in law enforcement. That methodology that I employed in this case was consistent with how I would have reviewed any similar use of force incident based on my training and experience as a supervisor in the field of law enforcement.

Incident Analysis

Opinion 1: SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by illegally entering into her 1st floor, front apartment without having the legal authority to do so while executing a search warrant for a defendant believed to be located inside the 2nd floor, rear apartment which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.

The following fact patterns support my above opinion;

I reviewed the search warrant for 4664 Torresdale Avenue, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania which was signed and approved on June 3, 2021 where Detective Scally was listed as the affiant. It clearly states on the first page that the search warrant was for the 2nd floor, rear apartment. (D000058). On the third page it again, clearly states on two occasions that the search warrant was for the 2nd floor, rear apartment. (D000060)

I reviewed the typed statement of Detective Scally dated 6/17/21. When asked, "Why did you list that the 2nd floor rear of 4664 Torresdale Avenue was the specific description of the premises that was to searched on the search warrant?" He replied, "The information that was received from the probation officer was the most recent information. Since the address was for the second floor, we wanted to be specific. There could have been a second-floor front that we did not know about." (D000066). (As I will demonstrate from Google Earth photographs, it clearly shows that there could not be a 2nd floor front as the 2nd floor is set back from the front of the building.) When Detective Scally was asked, "Did you have information on how the 2nd floor rear was to be accessed?" He replied, "No. I assumed it would be from the front." (D00066) Again, Google Earth photographs clearly show that no possible access could have been made to the 2nd floor rear from the 1st floor, front as the 2nd floor was set back from the front of the building.

I also reviewed the arrest warrant for the defendant whom the SWAT officers were attempting to locate which listed Detective Graf as the affiant. On page 1 the address listed was for the 2^{nd} floor of the building (D000002), and listed again as the 2^{nd} floor on page 1 of the arrest affidavit (D000016).

I reviewed the typed statement provided by Detective Graf dated 6/17/21. Detective Graf advised database checks of BMV and prison release for the defendant involved in the murder both listed 4664 Torresdale Ave, 2nd floor as an address (D000069). He also spoke with Probation Officer Shannon who advised the defendant's address as 2nd floor, rear (D000069). She last spoke with the defendant on May 5, 2021, a month prior to the execution of the search warrant. Detective Graf advised he conducted no surveillance on the address (D000069) which would have confirmed the defendant was present at that location. He then advised he drove by the front of the property (D000069). He was asked if he "had any prior information that the 2nd floor apartment was in the rear of the property" which he answered, "I did not." (D000069). Prior to that question, Detective Graf provided the information above which came from database checks he conducted prior to obtaining the arrest warrant which clearly indicated the address as 2nd floor, rear. He stated he looked at the property on Google maps which listed the property in 2019. He also advised he did not know there was a rear door until after the warrant service (D000070).

I reviewed the typed statement of Sergeant Mellody dated 7/12/21. When asked, "Did you have any information that the 2nd floor apartment was in the rear of the property?" He replied, "Yes." (D000062). When asked, "Was there any discussion about how to access the 2 floor, rear apartment of 4664 Torresdale Avenue at any time?" He replied, "Yes. I did a recon on the property and I observed a rear door at the location. When I reconed the property there was no signs of that door going to the second floor. There was a bump out on the left side. The door was on the right of the bump out when looking towards the rear of the property. I discussed this with the homicide personnel. The Homicide Unit personnel did not know where the rear door led to." (D000062).

Sergeant Mellody had first-hand information that the search warrant was for the 2nd floor rear. He had personally "reconed" the apartment. His observation that day provided him with access to the front and rear of the property. The photograph that was provided on the "SWAT Unit RECON Sheet" which showed a clear view of the front of the building (D000075). His observation should have informed him that the second floor was set back from the front of the building which would provide no access to the 2nd floor from the front of the 1st floor. He confirmed the search warrant and arrest warrant were for the 2nd floor rear (D000062). He confirmed he did not know where the rear door on the first floor led to (D000062). He then advised that he has obtained floor plans in the past for large apartment buildings through the internet

(D000063). He was then asked, "Were there any signs or indication on the front of the property leading you to believe the 2nd floor could be accessed from the front of the property? He replied, "No." (D000063). He indicated that he and Lieutenant Monk were the supervisors on scene (D000037). Even though there was no indication that the 2nd floor rear could not be accessed through the 1st floor front of the building, he still allowed the SWAT team to make entry into the front of the building. Because he had the knowledge and ability to obtain building plans, there was a possibility that he could of obtain them for this incident. D000073 showed the recon was conducted by "Clark/Sgt. Melody."

I reviewed PPD SOP 28 for SWAT Reconnaissance & Intelligence dated 4/11/19. It states;

- "Purpose
- B. Intelligence is critical when planning a tactical operation and the first step to planning an operation."
- "Policy
- B. The reconnaissance will be performed by members of the SWAT Unit and a second separate reconnaissance will be performed by the Unit Supervisor unless there is an exigent circumstance why a supervisor cannot perform the operation or members of the SWAT Unit cannot be used."
- "3. Survey Examples
- A. There can never be too much tactical information available. Listed in this document are minimum examples of necessary information.
- 1. Location or Site Intelligence Address Number of floors How constructed Exits, how many, how constructed, where at on the property. Number of windows, where at, size, fortifications.
- 2 Dogs, other deterrents to Police Possible escape points, porch roofs, etc. Overview of property in relationship to entire block. Overview of block in relationship to neighborhood Street types and direction in relationship to location."

It appeared that Officer Clark and Sergeant Mellody conducted an incomplete "recon" of the property. Both officers, one being a supervisor, clearly observed the front of the residence prior to the execution of the search warrant. They did not take into consideration how the floors were constructed in relation to one another. SOP 28 also states;

- "5. Method of Reconnaissance.
- a. Marked Vehicle, Uniformed personnel
- b. Unmarked vehicle, plainclothes personnel
- c. Police Helicopter
- d. Assistance from other members of the Police Department, accompanied by a SWAT Unit member

e. Any ruse or disguise that will enhance the accuracy of the reconnaissance."

No methods were documented to ensure they were accurate on how and where they executed the search warrant.

I reviewed the typed statement of LT Monk dated 6/4/21. When asked to describe 4664 Torresdale Avenue, he replied, "It was a two-story row home with two mailboxes on the front. One for the 1st floor and one for the 2nd floor. There was no access to the second-floor apartment from inside of the first floor. The warrant was for the second floor. We had no information on how to access the 2nd floor then through the main door." LT Monk acknowledged the warrant was for the second floor, but had no information on how to access the 2nd floor.

I reviewed PPD SOP 31 "SWAT Unit Warrant Service" revised 10/20/22 which states:

"A thorough recon and brief will be conducted before warrant service is attempted...Both SWAT supervisors will obtain a copy of the warrant from the investigators and check it for accuracy and be guided by procedures outlined in SOP 28"

The following photograph is a picture taken from Google Earth with an imagery date of 6/6/22. I then utilized the "snipping tool" to take a photograph of the image and saved it as a "PNG" file.

As the viewer can see, the 2^{nd} floor is set back from the front of the building a considerable distance. If someone enters through the front door, it clearly shows there would be no entrance way to access the 2^{nd} floor as the 2^{nd} floor is set back. This photograph shows there could be no common fover where a doorway would exist to access the 1st and 2nd floor apartments from the front of the apartment. Sergeant Mellody conducted what he described as "recon" the morning the search warrant was executed. His observation of the front of the residence showed there would be no access to the 2nd floor from the front 1st floor.

I utilized the "snipping tool" and photographed the picture as provided in discovery of D000080 which depicts the front of the residence on the day of the incident. I then saved it as a "PNG" file. It clearly shows the 2nd floor is set back from the 1st floor front of the residence. Sergeant Mellody conducted "recon" on the day of the incident and this depicts his viewpoint.

I utilized the "snipping tool" and photographed the picture as provided in discovery of D000084 which depicts the front door of the residence that was struck with a ram by Officer Clark on the day of the incident. I then saved it as a "PNG" file.

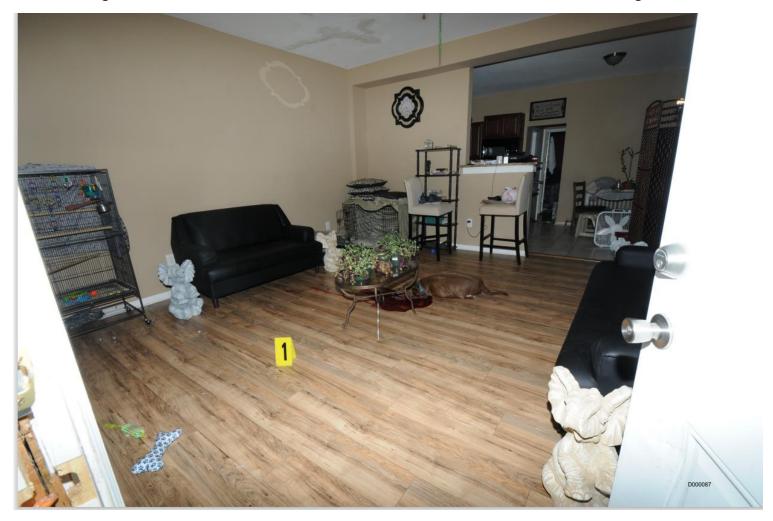

I utilized the "snipping tool" and photographed the picture as provided in discovery of D000085 which depicts the front door frame of the residence that was struck with a ram by Officer Clark on the day of the incident. I then saved it as a "PNG" file.

I utilized "snipping tool" to take a photograph of the picture provided in discovery of D000087. This photograph depicts the view point from the front of the 1st floor apartment as entrance is made inside. I saved it as a "PNG" file. A stairway would have to be located by the kitchen entrance toward the rear of the residence to gain access to the 2nd floor because it is set back from the front of the building.

I also utilized Google Earth to take a photograph of the rear of the residence with "snipping tool." I then saved it as a "PNG" file.

I reviewed the typed stated of Sergeant Mellody to Internal Affairs dated 7/12/21. He was asked, "Was there any indication that a dog was present before the SWAT Unit entered 4664 Torresdale Avenue while you were outside the property?" He answered, "Yes. A dog was barking." I also reviewed the typed statement of Lieutenant Monk dated 6/4/21. He was asked, "Upon your arrival at 4664 Torresdale Avenue, what did you see and do?" He replied, "Upon arrival, Officer Clark approached the door, knocked and announced "Police, with a warrant, open the door". At that point, I could hear a dog barking and I gave the order to breach. Upon entry, we were met by a light brown colored pit-bull mix in the living room area. The dog immediately went after Officer Song biting his lower right leg. I continued past Officer Song where I encountered a white female in the kitchen area. She was on the floor behind a fence that separated the living from the kitchen. I proceeded past her and cleared the property. Once I encountered the female, I heard a single shot from behind me."

I reviewed the transcript deposition of Sergeant Brian Mellody dated October 11, 2023. At the beginning of the deposition, he stated he believed all policies and procedures were followed (Page 9). He advised there was nothing inconsistent from his training (Page 10). Sergeant Mellody confirmed he and Officer Clark did the "recon" (Page 15). He stated he inspected the front by riding past the residence then exited his vehicle and walked to the rear to observe that (Page 18). Sergeant Mellody confirmed he heard the knock then Officer Clark and Murry performed the breach (Page 24). He advised LT Monk made the decision to breach the door (Page 33), but he (Mellody) was the one who had made the decision to go to the front door to execute the warrant (Page 34). He stated the search warrant stated rear while the "recon" sheet stated 2nd floor rear (Page 36). When asked if he knew about the suspect being on parole, he stated he did not (Page 38). He stated if he knew of the parole information it could have changed the plans (Page 44). Sergeant Mellody advised the front of the residence is one story (Page 68). He explained he heard LT Monk give the command to breach the door (Page 74).

I reviewed the deposition of Lieutenant Demetrius Monk dated 5/19/2023. He was asked, "If you're attempting to enter an apartment for which you do have a valid warrant, as a member of the Philadelphia Police Department, pursuant to the policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department, as you understand them based on your training, are you allowed to go into someone else's apartment that is not subject to the warrant?" He replied, "Let me back up. At the time it was unknown whether the entrance was within the first-floor apartment or not. So, I would go with we were legally -- we had legal bounds to be in that apartment." (Page 20). He confirmed he knew the search warrant was for the second floor (Page 19). (Again, PPD Directive 5.7 pertaining to search warrant states, "the executing officer have no doubt as to who or what can be seized and where they may be found.) He was also asked, "So you believe that you were legally allowed to be in apartment one, first floor" which he responded, "Yes." (Page 20).

Lieutenant Monk was asked, "So prior to entering Ms. Alvarado's apartment, you understood that legally you are not allowed to go anywhere on the property, other than the second-floor rear apartment, correct?" He replied, "That's correct." (Page 25). He was asked, "And did you believe that the breached private residence was the second-floor rear apartment?" He replied, "At the time, we did not know the second floor was in the rear." (Page 27) (As previously shown photographs of the residence, it clearly indicates that the 2nd floor could not be located at the front as the 2nd floor was set back from the front of the residence. When the door to the residence was breached, officers knew then as they entered into a residence and not a common hallway or foyer. Yet, they continued through the 1st floor apartment clearing all rooms including the rear of the residence.) Lieutenant Monk was asked, "However, assuming that it was true, if it was possible to access the second-floor rear apartment through Ms. Alvarado's first floor apartment, would you legally have been allowed to go through the first-floor apartment, in order to get there, without a warrant?" He replied, "No." (Page 34). Lieutenant Monk was asked, "Sir, what is the point of doing reconnaissance prior to a warrant enforcement job?" He replied, "To identify the properties, the specific property, any difficulties we may have on approach, to get a layout of what the rear may look like and the general neighborhood." (Page 36). (It was already established the Sergeant Mellody and Officer Clark conducted the "Recon" of the residence. If done properly, a rear door would have been observed that could show how to access the 2nd floor rear, and also that the 2nd floor rear was set back from the front of the residence.) Lieutenant Monk also confirmed he ordered the breach. (Page 37).

I again reviewed the search warrant which was approved on June 3, 2021. It stated the warrant shall be served only between the hours of 6AM and 6PM (D000058). I also reviewed the video surveillance (A10_20210604053500_002, Camera 10) provided from the corner Deli store which shows the SWAT Unit approaching the residence at 5:36:21 AM. (The time of the video surveillance was not confirmed with the actual time, but the video clearly shows it was daylight outside.) If "recon" by Sergeant Mellody was conducted when it was dark, it clearly now shows that any reasonable person could determine that the 2nd floor was set back from the front first floor of the building, therefore, no access could be made into a common foyer or area that would provide immediate access to the 2nd floor rear.

I reviewed the "Defendant Officer Edward Song's answers and objections to plaintiff's interrogatories and requests for production of documents." On page 8 he was asked, "If you believe that it was lawful for you to enter Plaintiff's home and/or kill her dog, please specify: A. Why you believe it was lawful for you to enter Plaintiff's home, and/or B. Why you believe it was lawful for you to kill Plaintiff's dog?" The answer provided was "Notwithstanding these objections, and without waiving the same, Defendant responds that he entered the front door to 4664 Torresdale Avenue in good faith and under the belief that it was the common entrance to both the first- and second-floor apartments; that this belief was reasonable given the appearance of the front door facing Torresdale Avenue, which read "4664," was situated immediately to the right of two mailboxes, and lacked any other markings on the door indicating it to be the entrance to the first floor apartment only.

I reviewed the transcript deposition of Detective Timothy Scally dated 9/28/23. Detective Scally advised he conducted the probation check (Page 20) and did not know the defendant had been on house arrest (Page 21). He indicated he did not know the entrance to the apartment was on Margaret Street (Page 30). He advised if he had the information from probation, he would have known the entrance was at the rear (Page 31). Detective Scally stated there was no specific policy for preparing a warrant and obtaining all available information (Page 35).  PPD has Directive 5.22 for preparing arrest warrants and Directive 5.7 for preparing search warrants.  He advised he knew the search warrant was for the 2nd floor-rear (Page 37). Detective Scally explained that if he had the probation information and google maps view, the proper way to enter the residence would be through the rear.

Detective Scally stated the only way they determined the location of the apartment was they drove past the building (Page 40). He indicated he would not have contacted the property owner for safety reasons. He confirmed the area of the front door to the building is one story (Page 45). He believed the front door led to a vestibule area through his experience. He advised the SWAT Unit's knock and announce was consistent with what he observed from his experience (Page 51). He stated he obtained no search warrant for the suspect's cell phone or IP addresses (57). He believed that 5-7 seconds was a reasonable opportunity to surrender the premises (Page 75).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Patrick Saba dated 5/16/23. He had been identified as a member of the PPD SWAT Unit since 2018. He was shown a photograph of the front of the residence located at 4664 Torresdale Avenue (Saba Exhibit 2). He was asked, "So do you think it would be reasonable for someone to believe that this second -- that this door led to the second floor of a building?" He replied, "No. It wouldn't be reasonable." (Page 42). He also confirmed there were no exigent circumstances that required any sort of emergency. (Page 55 & 56).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Matthew Fitzpatrick dated 5/17/23. He was asked, "When you have done reconnaissance at multi-residence properties as part of that, would you try to determine what apartment the warrant was valid for?" He replied, "So we do it on apartments, you have to make sure when you're doing reconnaissance you have to know the specific apartment. If it's unclear, then we will contact the detectives back and we will ask them, you know, if it's not in the warrant they will have to redo the warrant. And if it's not clear then we end up not doing it." (Page 29 & 30). He was then asked, "So if you did have a warrant and did specify a specific floor and apartment number, as part of your reconnaissance would you make sure that you understood how to get to that specific floor and apartment before you sent a team in there? He replied, "Yes. So, if it's a specific apartment, we will have to make sure when we are doing the reconnaissance that we are going to that specific apartment that the warrant is for. (Page 30). Officer Fitzpatrick was then asked, "And what kind of steps have you personally taken to try to figure that out in multi-residence properties?" He replied, "Usually it's unclear. So, if it's like, you know, apartment one and there's a one and a two and it's not marked, usually I will tell my supervisor usually that is -- I will tell them like hey, this isn't clear. He will end up contacting the detectives back. If it's unclear which house it is, then we usually will work with the detectives. But if they can't give us a specific answer, then we will just not do the warrant and we will say you didn't give us more information." (Page 31). He was then asked, "But what I want to ask you actually is if you were part of a reconnaissance team and you knew you had a warrant that was for a second-floor rear apartment and you knew that the apartment building had a rear door, would you investigate whether or not if the rear door was the proper access to the rear apartment?" He replied, "Yes. So, if I was on a reconnaissance and I saw that it said second floor rear door, then I would definitely tell my supervisor and say, hey, listen, there's a door in the rear that leads to the second floor. He would end up talking to the detectives and they would have to hash it out from there." (Page 32).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Heriberto Quintana dated 5/23/23. He was asked, "Prior to arriving at the property, did you know whether or not there was a rear door?" He replied, "Yes." He was asked, "What were you told about the -- how did you know there was a rear door?" He replied, "Based on the description given during the reconnaissance and on the reconnaissance sheet." He was also asked, "And what were you told about the rear door prior to the operation?" He responded, "Not much. Just that it was accessible from the rear driveway, the view of the rear, including the rear door. Nothing else in particular about it." (Page 16). Officer Quintana was asked, "And during that briefing, did you learn one way or another whether or not the warrant specified a specific apartment number?" He replied, "It did not specify a specific apartment." (Page 27). (This information is inconsistent with the signed search warrant for the residence. It states on at least three occasions that the search warrant specified the "2nd floor rear.)

Officer Quintana was asked, "So with that background in mind and the personal experience you've already referred to, if you were tasked with doing a reconnaissance on a multi residence apartment building, where the warrant specified that it only applied to the apartment number two, second floor rear, and you knew that there was a rear door and you knew that there was a front door to the building, would you at least consider the possibility that the front door did not provide entrance to the second floor rear apartment?" He replied, "Yes, I would consider that." (Page 32). He was also asked, "So would you try to get additional information, in that situation, prior to sending out the SWAT Unit to do a warrant enforcement operation?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 33). When he was asked what additional steps he would take, Officer Quintana replied, "If I have access to that information, I'd probably look up like a city database and find out exactly what type of dwelling it is. Ask the detectives to possibly set up a surveillance to see if they make a determination, based on the surveillance, what entrance to use specifically for something like that." (Page 33). When he was asked if reconnaissance was to sort out issues ahead of time, he agreed to that statement. (Page 37). When Officer Quintana was asked about what type of guidance he had received on training when it came to conducting reconnaissance, he replied, "In regards to recon, just basically what kind of things to look for when it came to that, how to access any particular, I guess you could say, additional entryways. For example, if we use -- if we were to serve a warrant in a multi-story dwelling, then we have to make a determination of how to get into the first door, how to get into a second door, if needed, and then how to access that particular floor that the apartment is on. That's something that all has to get taken into consideration." (Page 53).

I reviewed the deposition of Probation Officer Dana Shannon dated 9/15/23. She confirmed the "File Notes" pertaining to the suspect in this case stated that the field team went to the residence of the defendant on April 25, 2019. The location stated 2nd floor apartment (rear entrance off Margaret St.) (Page 18). She advised she never went to the residence (Page 20) and told Detective Graf she had never been to the residence (Page 22). She also told Detective Graf she personally never verified the address. Officer Shannon advised Detective Graf never requested the records (Page 25), but if asked, she would have told Detective Graf it was confirmed at that time (Page 26).

I then reviewed the "File Notes" pertaining to the suspect in this case. The following were notations of importance to this case and are summarized below:

- 1. 6/2/21 PP is suspect in a murder. PO told him we have only had contact with PP by phone. We could not confirm his address by a field visit.
- 2. 5/5/21 PP stated his address and phone number are the same.
- 3. 4/27/21 PP gave phone number 267-770-2861.
- 4. 7/31/20 PP gave email of blockzombie215@gmail.com.
- 5. 6/22/20 PP gave address 4664 Torresdale Ave, rear
- 6. 4/25/19 Field Team provided location of 2nd floor apartment (rear entrance off Margaret St.)

The "File Notes" provided a cell phone number for the defendant where suspects can be tracked to their location. He also provided an email address where IP addresses can be tracked to a location. Notations also provided information that the apartment was at the 2nd floor apartment (rear entrance off Margaret Street.) I found no documentation that Detective Graf followed any of these steps for the cell phone or IP addresses.

I reviewed the deposition of Felishatay Alvarado dated 8/11/23. She advised she moved into the apartment in March of 2021. She advised she added different numbers on the address that were bolder as the previous numbers were faded (Page 19). Alvarado indicated the numbers on the mailboxes were the same (Page 20). When asked if she ever had anyone knock on her door looking for people on the 2nd floor, she answered, "No." (Page 21). She advised she was in her bathroom when she heard her bird scream (Page 43). She advised here dog barked prior to the police officers breaching her door (Page 44). She stated the "Beware of Dog" sign was up on the date of this incident (Page 87).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Eric Clark dated 9/21/23. He confirmed he and Sergeant Mellody conducted the reconnaissance for the execution of this search warrant (Page 38). Officer Clark stated he knew there was a rear door to the residence (Page 46) and that they inspected the property (Page 47). He also confirmed he knew the search warrant was for the rear of the residence (Page 49). He advised he did not know about the Parole Office having records about the entrance in the rear (Page 53). He advised if he knew Parole had information about the entrance being in the rear, it would have affected how they did the entry. When asked, "Did you, as part of your reconnaissance, investigate whether there might be a door to enter the property off Margaret Street?" He responded, "So I would say since I believe that in front of the property there's two mailboxes, so the properties, numerous properties that we had apartments set up like that and we see two mailboxes, you wouldn't think that, okay, that the entrance to the second-floor apartment is in the rear because the mailbox is not there, it's on the front of the property. So, we were expecting -- well, what I was expecting when I breached the door, that we go in, there was going to be probably a door to the right where there's the first-floor apartment and then a set of steps we had to go up to get to the second floor." (Page 58). He was then asked, "Given that you knew that the 4664 Torresdale Avenue property had a front door and a rear door and had multiple apartments in it and that your warrant was only for the rear apartment, didn't it show reckless disregard for the residents of the apartments in that building that you did not investigate whether or not the proper entrance point was through the front door or the rear door." He responded, "Because like I said, there's two mailboxes on the front of the property. Who gets their mail from the front of the property and has to walk all the way back to the rear of the property, like, I mean, that doesn't make sense. So, a reasonable person would believe, okay, to get to apartment 1, it's probably going to say Apartment 1 and 2 Apartment 2, they're going to go through the front door and go up some steps or go to the right, whatever the case may be, whatever the case may be. A reasonable person that sees two mailboxes -- like I'm pretty sure the mailman is not walking to the back of the property, he's putting the mail in the front mailbox.

Officer Clark was later asked, "Okay. So, under your understanding of the United States Constitution, would the warrant that was issued to enter residence, were you legally allowed to enter Ms. Alvarado's first floor apartment?" He responded, "No. The warrant wasn't for the first floor, it was for the second floor." (Page 96) He also confirmed he heard the dog barking prior to breaching the door (Page 98).

He advised he was not aware of any PPD SOP on dog encounters and has not received any training on dog encounters (99).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Joshua Burkitt dated 9/20/23. He confirmed the search warrant indicated 2nd floor rear apartment (Page 23). He agreed if he had all the information that was available now, he would have assumed that the entrance to the apartment would be in the rear (Page 31). He advised there were no exigent circumstances to enter the apartment on the first floor and they had no legal grounds to enter (Page 53).

I reviewed the deposition of Jaclyn Matteo Hand, Probation/Parole Officer, dated 9/27/23. She indicated she would conduct the investigation of the defendant and provide the information to the field team (Page 5). She also stated the field team would inspect the residence (Page 6). Officer Matteo Hand advised she spoke with the mother of the defendant who advised the entrance to their apartment was in the alleyway (Page 8). She stated she completed the "Home Investigation Interview" with the mother in April of 2019. She advised the information would have been available to probation (Page 13). She indicated if someone asked where the defendant lived, they could have pulled the document and provided the information of the entrance off Margaret Street (Page 21).

I reviewed the "Home Investigation Interview" document which Officer Matteo Hand advised she completed for the field team. It stated the interview was completed with Shiela Washington who was the mother (Page 1). It also listed the address as: 4664 Torresdale Ave. Rear apartment (2 floors) Phila PA 19124 (go up alleyway to knock on door). It also provided the legal owner of the property as: NAME: Mirela Pajo, Contact #: 267-303-2120 (Page 2). It also lists under household structure: rear apartment – 2 floors (Page 4). Where it asks where the defendant would sleep, it states: 2nd floor back bedroom (Page 4).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Cyprian Scott dated 9/21/23. He stated he was informed of the search warrant the night prior when he came to work at 11pm (Page 12). He was aware they were going to a 2-story residence (Page 14). He believed the residence only had one door and he had no other information about another door (Page 21). He admitted the front portion of the residence was only one story (Page 26). When told that probation and inspection records specifically said that entry to this apartment was to the rear of the building on Margaret Street, he stated he was not aware of it (Page 31). Officer Scott stated he would have gone to the rear door if they had the information (Page 32). He indicated that the PPD has provided him with training on enforcing warrants on multi-residence properties (Page 35). He was asked, "And based on the training you've received from the Philadelphia Police Department in the SWAT Unit, would it be important for you and the rest of the SWAT team to avoid if at all possible, entering the wrong apartment number?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 39) Officer Scott also indicated it would be unconstitutional to go into another apartment (Page 39). He indicated that he has executed thousands of warrants and never has been to the rear of the residence to enter (Page 40). He advised he would not breach a door if it led into another apartment (Page 50).

I reviewed the deposition of Detective Francis Graf dated 9/28/03. He explained he had no prior knowledge of the rear door to the residence (Page 20). He advised he doesn't ever recall going through the rear entrance of a property like that (Page 21). He indicated the warrant was for the 2nd-floor rear (Page 23). When asked, "Were officers allowed to enter other apartments that happened to be in the same building? He responded, "No." (Page 24) He specifically stated that the SWAT Unit plans the entries (Page 25). He did not recall if the suspect had a cell phone, but did not complete a phone warrant (Page 33). Detective Graf indicated he did not recall any social media sites for the suspect (Page 33). (If he did, it was not documented). He advised he did not check IP addresses for the suspect and no one conducted physical surveillance (Page 33). Detective Graf stated he did not contact the property owner. He stated if he had the information from parole that the access was through the alleyway, it would have led to believe the entrance was off Margaret Street (Page 46). He explained the "knock and announce rule" meant a reasonable amount of time (Page 67).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Miguel Rivera dated 8/18/23. Officer Rivera advised he was assigned to the rear of the apartment when he heard a single gunshot (Page 13). He stated the entry team then came around the back of the residence (Page 13). He stated the "recon" is to figure out what doors lead to which apartments (Page 25). Officer Rivera stated at times they had contacted the property owners (Page 26). When he was asked, "Can you enter any -- any portion of the building, even if the warrant applied only to Apartment 2, second floor rear?" He responded, "No." (Page 30) He confirmed that there was no 2nd-floor directly above the front door (Page 35). Officer Rivera stated sometimes they monitor residences for when people are coming and going (Page 37). When Officer Rivera was asked, "If it's not possible ahead of time to determine whether a front door leads into an occupied apartment or a common area, should you, if possible, delay the operation until reconnaissance is able to make that determination in order to avoid entering the apartment of someone who is not subject to a warrant?" He responded, "Yes." (Page 43). He indicated he has had no training on dog encounters.

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Jose Hamoy dated 8/17/23. When asked if he knew whether or not the Philadelphia Police Department has ever issued any directives pertaining to how Philadelphia Police Department officers should handle encounters with dogs?" He responded, "Yes, I believe so" and advised he has other tools to deal with dogs (Page 16). He indicated he has received training from the PPD on how to enforce warrants on multi-residence buildings (Page 21). He stated that sometimes the detective or supervisor would contact the property owner (Page 37). He stated he knew there was a rear door (Page 43). Officer Hamoy advised if he saw the warrant and knew there was a rear door, he would have gone to the rear door (Page 51). When he was asked, "What is the knock-and-announce rule in your experience?" He responded, "We always knock and announce at least three times before we wait for an order from a supervisor to breach." (That is not consistent what happened in this incident according to the video.) When asked, "And did you ever receive any training as to how much time you should allow to pass between, pursuant to the knock-and-announce rule, between knocking on someone's front door and breaching their property? He responded, "To the best of my recollection, reasonable time." (Page 54) He was asked, "Okay. Can you recall at this time how much time passed between, if any, between Ms.

Alvarado's front door being knocked on and her door being knocked down with the SWAT unit ram?" He responded, "I cannot recall it specifically, sir." Then he was asked, "Do you recall whether or not it was a reasonable amount of time?" He responded, "Yeah. It would be reasonable, sir, to the best of my recollection." (Page 56) He explained that other than serving a warrant for a warrant for a homicide there was no exigent circumstances (Page 57). Officer Hamoy agreed that the 2nd-floor was pushed back from the front door (Page 67). He again advised on this warrant he would have gone to the rear of the residence (Page 68).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Brian Murray dated 8/11/23. He identified himself as one of the breachers (page 9). He later stated that Officer Clark conducted the knock and announce and the breach of the door (Page 13). He advised he knew the search warrant was for the 2nd floor (Page 9). Officer Murray stated he was expecting to enter into a common entry point (Page). He indicated he was the last one to enter the residence (Page 10). He advised when he did enter into the residence, he knew it was not a common entry (10). He stated that he believed that LT Monk gave the order to breach the door (Page 15).

When Officer Murray was asked, "And why was that, why would you allow a period of time before the breach?" He responded, "We give enough time to try and get someone to comply and open the door. Ideally someone will open the door as opposed to us having to breach the door." (Page 18) He could not recall any exigent circumstances (Page 20) and indicated that a reasonable amount of time would be 30 seconds (Page 20). He stated he had no knowledge of a video of the incident (Page 20). He explained a dog was barking prior to breaching the door (Page 24). He advised he is trained to utilize OC spray on dogs to avoid a lethal encounter and they keep a dog noose in the truck (Page 27). Officer Murray advised he had no knowledge of the dog policy (Page 34). He explained he has never contacted a property owner and was unaware the suspect was on parole (Page 55). When he was asked, "Based on your experience and training with the Philadelphia Police Department, if you heard a dog barking inside of a property, would that be any reason to cut short the amount of time under the knock and announce rule between knocking on the property and breaching the door?" He responded, "No." (Page 60).

I reviewed the PPD Directive 5.7 pertaining to "search warrants" which states:

- "B. All search warrants will be obtained and executed by police personnel in accordance with the procedures established in this directive and the applicable rules of Pennsylvania Criminal Procedure (Pa. R. Crim. P. 2001 to 2010) which can be found in the Pennsylvania Crimes Code. (D000155).
- 4. Particularity of the Search Warrant
- B. The premises or person to be seized and the items to be seized must be specifically described in the warrant so that the judge if bail commissioner and the executing officer have no doubt as to who or what can be seized and where they may be found.
 - 1. Descriptions of buildings should include:

Phone: 609-214-6449

- a. street name and number of (no intersections.) When possible, where search will take place (vehicle/building), use exact numerical location.
- b. number of stories apartment number
- C. type of construction (brick, wood, etc.)
- d. type of property (single home, apartments, twin structure, etc.)
- e. particular markings, color, or any additional information which serve to identify the particular premise.

I reviewed the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code, Rule 205, Contents of Search Warrant which states:

- (A) Each search warrant shall be signed by the issuing authority and shall:
 - (1) specify the date and time of issuance;
 - (2) identify specifically the property to be seized;
 - (3) name or describe with particularity the person or place to be searched;
 - (4) direct that the search be executed either;
 - (a) within a specified period of time, not to exceed 2 days from the time of issuance, or;
 - (b) when the warrant is issued for a prospective event, only after the specified event has occurred.⁵

The search warrant described the exact place to be searched which was described in the search warrant on three occasions listed as 4664 Torresdale Ave, 2nd floor, rear. It was unreasonable for the officers to believe that they could obtained entry into the 2nd floor rear from the 1st floor front of the building as the photos of the front of the residence indicate. As stated in Directive 5.7, "the executing officer have no doubt as to who or what can be seized and where they may be found."

From reviewing the statements of the officers involved, specifically LT Monk, who advised, "At the time it was unknown whether the entrance was within the first-floor apartment or not," there was at least ambiguity on the part of the officers of how to gain access to the 2nd floor, rear. This is not consistent with the policy of PPD which states:

"the executing officer have no doubt as to who or what can be seized and where they may be found."

As part of their policy, the officers had the ability to obtain more background information prior to executing the search warrant. There appeared to be ambiguity on their part, but still executed the search warrant. No physical surveillance was conducted as Sergeant Mellody and Officer Clark only drove by the front of the residence and Detective Graf also only drove past the front of the residence. No officers advised they conducted surveillance. It is understandable that they did not want to contact the property owner the night prior and risk notifying the suspect of the warrant, but also attempted no other "ruse or disguise that will enhance the accuracy of the reconnaissance" as stated in the policy.

As specified in Rule 205, the search warrant was valid for 2 days. The detectives who obtained the warrants, the officers who conducted the reconnaissance, and the officers who executed the search warrant, specifically LT Monk and Sergeant Mellody, had ample time to further their investigation and obtain more thorough and complete information.

A reasonable and thorough investigation by Detective Scally would have included asking the parole officer how to enter into the residence. His own statement confirmed if he had the now known information, he would have known entry was in the rear of the residence. By not doing to was a violation of the PPD policy which also led to an unconstitutional entry into the residence of Ms. Alvarado.

Opinion #2 SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by executing the search warrant by forcibly ramming the door and not allowing her a reasonable amount of time to voluntarily surrender her residence which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.

The following is a timing sequence of the events as captured by the video surveillance, A10 20210604053500 002, Camera 10. All times are approximations.

TIMING SEQUENCE

Camera Time	Time Counter	Description
5:36:19	1:18	Philadelphia SWAT arrive at residence
5:37:13	2:12	SWAT is in a stack in front of residence
5:37:19	2:18	Officer knocks and announces
5:37:21	2:20	Officer Clark begins to move toward the front door to utilize the ram after order given to breach by LT Monk
5:37:27	2:26	1st ram of the door
5:37:29	2:28	2nd ram of the door
5:37:33	2:32	Officers begin to enter residence
5:39:11	4:10	Officers begin to exit residence

Although I did not observe it written on the search warrant, SWAT officers were conducting a "knock and announce" search warrant for 4664 Torresdale Ave, 2nd floor, rear as stated in the Officer Involved Shooting Investigation Report. (D000003). Officers knocked and announced at 5:37:19AM. Officer Clark began to walk toward the front door with the ram after the order was given to breach it. He then rammed the door the first time at 5:37:27AM. They only gave the resident 2 seconds before the order was given to breach the door and 8 seconds before they began to strike the door with the ram. It is unreasonable to think the resident could answer the door that quickly, specifically that time of the morning, and more importantly, no exigent circumstances existed.

In a review of the typed statement of LT Monk (D000044), he advised, "At that point, I could hear a dog barking and I gave the order to breach." A review of the typed statement of Sergeant Mellody (D000063), he advised he knew a dog was present when he was outside the property when he heard it barking. Due to the fact that this was a "knock and announce" search warrant, the resident must be given a reasonable amount of time to answer the door. The dog barking did not give away any tactical disadvantage and jeopardize the lives of the officers as they were already knocking and announcing their presence. Although attempting to apprehend a murder suspect is in itself dangerous, the situation did not become more dangerous by the dog barking whereby no exigent circumstances existed.

I again reviewed the transcript deposition of Sergeant Mellody. He confirmed from his previous interview to the shoot team that when they conducted the knock and announce there was no response (Page 20). When he was asked to explain the knock and announce rule, he stated, "Well, knock and announce rule is like a reasonable amount of time to take a door in a search warrant." (Page 51) Sergeant Mellody explained he obtained that information from training with the PPD. He explained he received training about knock and announce warrants while at SWAT school (Page 56). He stated knock and announce is no specific time just reasonable time to answer the door (Page 59). When he was asked, "Under the knock and announce rule, are you obligated to give the occupant of the property a reasonable opportunity to voluntarily surrender the property before you break down the door?" He responded, "Yes." (Page 59). Sergeant Mellody also stated, "When we do knock and announce, we give them a reasonable amount of time to answer the door to surrender to us." (Page 59). He advised he never saw SWAT not follow the knock and announce rule (61) and believed it was followed that day (Page 62). (He had not observed the video at that time). He advised there were no exigent circumstances (Page 74). He explained he has had no dog encounter training and does not remember the dog policy (Page 88). He stated he had no other tools like a dog noose or OC spray to utilize (Page 90). He confirmed the SWAT SOP for knock and announce stated 30 seconds to wait (Page 95). Sergeant Mellody did not remember if 30 seconds was utilized before the breach (Page 96). He was asked, "In your experience, the door would be knocked on at least three times before you break someone's door down; right?" He responded, "Three or more." (Page 98)

Sergeant Mellody explained he did not know about the video of the search warrant until the deposition (Page 106). When he was shown the video, he expressed "Little quick from what I would do." (Page 110) When asked, "Assuming there were no exigent circumstances, was this consistent with the knock and announce rule policies from the Philadelphia Police Department?" He responded, "No." (Page 115). He was asked, "Was this consistent with your experience, as a member of the SWAT unit, as far as how a warrant enforcement action would normally be done?" He responded, "No." (Page 115) Sergeant Mellody was asked, "So you believe that what you saw was a knock and announce consistent with the policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department?" He responded, "So I'm going to say visually looking at that video, no, but I don't know what the circumstances were and what the Lieutenant was thinking at that time." (Page 115)

A review of the memorandum prepared by Lieutenant Kevin Hall (Commanding Officer of Internal Affairs) dated 1/3/23, he advised Lieutenant Jason Hendershot of the OISI contacted the property owner, identified as Armin Maroli, (D000117). Maroli stated he purchased the property 2-3 years ago (2018-2019) as a duplex and no modifications had been made indicating that there was never any access between the two (2) apartments. As stated by Sergeant Mellody, he has obtained building plans in the past for apartment buildings. If plans were obtained for this residence or contact made with the property owner, information would have been obtained that showed no access to the 2nd floor rear could have been obtained from the 1st floor front.

I reviewed the PPD Directive 5.17 related to "Wanted Persons." It clearly states, "Make every effort to determine the location of the wanted subject, prior to obtaining the warrant." Although Detective Graf stated in the arrest warrant that he conducted database checks with BMV, prison release records, and a conversation with probation officer, he did not make every effort to determine the fugitive's location as outlined in the directive. Being a former homicide detective for 14 years, it is common knowledge that suspects are often apprehended utilizing the cellphone records to provide their locations with cell site tower information, cell phone "pings", and call detail records which was not documented by detectives. The search warrant specifically stated the officers were attempting to locate a "cellular phone" along with other evidence. This insinuates they were aware that the suspect had a cell phone and may be utilized to track his location. It is often common knowledge that suspects are often tracked utilizing their social media accounts that provide who they are communicating with and IP addresses utilized by their accounts that can be tracked to an address. A neighborhood canvass was not documented to determine of any persons observed the suspect at that 2nd floor, rear apartment. Certainly, no physical surveillance was conducted to determine if the suspect was seen entering or exiting the 2nd floor rear apartment. Further, any reasonable investigation of the suspect's whereabouts would have included, at bare minimum, obtaining all information from the Probation / Parole Office with regards to how the suspect's apartment could be entered. It is blatantly indifferent to the 4th Amendment for the City of Philadelphia to have failed to have required its detectives to obtain such basic information in conducting reconnaissance under the circumstances presented here.

I reviewed the PPD Directive 5.22 related to "Arrest Warrants." It clearly reads, "Regarding omissions, investigators shall include in all warrant applications highly relevant facts within his or her knowledge that any reasonable officer knows that a magistrate would need to make an independent determination of probable cause. This included all culpable information as well as exculpable information." Again, it is not known whether the suspect had a cellphone, social media accounts, neighbors who saw him at the residence, or physical surveillance that was conducted to place the suspect at the 2nd floor rear apartment. I am merely stating that these procedures, if done, were not documented.

Also in the Directive 5.22, it states;

"PRIOR TO OBTAINING THE ARREST WARRANT

- A. Sworn personnel will ensure that a complete and timely investigation has taken place. The information concerning the suspect and his/her location, as well as any information noted on the 75-572 and 75-51 must be accurate, reliable and contemporary.
- B. Areas of investigation should include but are not limited to:
- 1. Motor vehicle checks
- 2. Voter registration checks
- 3. Welfare files
- 4. School records
- 5. Employment records
- 6. Utility bills
- 7. Interviews with family, friends, co-workers, etc.
- 8. Informants
- 9. Surveillance
- 10. Jailtrak system
- 11. Coles Directory
- 12. Fiche File
- 13. Intelligence check (associates, areas frequented)
- 14. Criminal record check photos, extracts
- 15. Driver's license
- 16. Firearms checks

17. Probation/Parole

NOTE: These types of investigations should also be used to supplement an officer's efforts concerning "due diligence" requirements after the warrant has been obtained."

Although some of these steps were taken, many others were not such as interviews with family, friends, and co-workers, surveillance, informants, intelligence checks, and probation/parole notes which goes toward "make every effort to determine the location of the wanted subject, prior to obtaining the warrant."⁸

I reviewed PPD Directive 5.7 related to "Search Warrants" dated 4/29/16. The directive states;

- "B. Knock and Announce
- 1. The purpose of the Knock and announce" rule is to prevent the violence and physical injury to police and occupants, to protect the occupant's expectation of privacy, to prevent property damage resulting from a forced entry and to give the occupants an opportunity to surrender the premises.
- 2. The manner of the entry is provided from in Rule 207 of the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Procedure and is as follows:
 - a. A law enforcement officer executing a search warrant shall, before entry give or make reasonable effort to give, notice of their identity, authority and purpose to any occupant of the premises specified in the arrant, UNLESS exigent circumstances require immediate forcible entry.
 - b. Such officer shall wait a response for a reasonable period of time after their announcement before gaining entry into the property.
 - c. If the officer is not admitted after such a reasonable period of time, they may forcibly enter the premises and may use such physical force to effect entry therein as is necessary to execute the search warrant.

NOTE: The courts have not precisely and uniformly determined the exact period of time that can be considered "reasonable."

I reviewed the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code, Rule 207 which states;

"Rule 207 - Manner of Entry into Premises

- (A) A law enforcement officer executing a search warrant shall, before entry, give, or make reasonable effort to give, notice of the officer's identity, authority, and purpose to any occupant of the premises specified in the warrant, unless exigent circumstances require the officer's immediate forcible entry.
- (B) Such officer shall await a response for a reasonable period of time after this announcement of identity, authority, and purpose, unless exigent circumstances require the officer's immediate forcible entry.

 Although these court cases are older cases, these are the ones noted under the Pennsylvania Criminal Code for Rule 207 **

I reviewed PPD SOP 31 "SWAT UNIT WARRANT SERVICE" which states:

Knock and Announce Rule Directive 5.7 6 B

- 1. The purpose of the "knock and announce" rule is to prevent violence and physical injury to police and occupants, to protect an occupant's expectation of privacy, to prevent property damage resulting from forced entry and to give the occupants an opportunity to surrender the premises.
- 2. The manner of entry is provided for in Rule 207 of the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Procedure and is as follows:
- a. A law enforcement officer executing a search warrant shall, before entry, give or make reasonable effort to give, notice of their identity, authority and purpose to any occupant of the premises specified in the warrant, UNLESS exigent circumstances require immediate forcible entry.
- b. Such officer shall await a response for a reasonable period of time after their announcement before gaining entry into the property.
- c. If the officer is not admitted after such a reasonable period of time, they may forcibly enter the premises and may use as much physical force to effect entry therein as is necessary to execute the search warrant.

NOTE: The courts have not precisely and uniformly determined the exact period of time that can be considered "reasonable". However, recent court decisions have shown that 30 seconds should be the minimum time police personnel should delay their entry into a property after announcing their presence and purpose.

A review of the Lieutenant Monk's deposition revealed he was asked, "What is the knock and announce rule?" He replied, "the knock and announce rule is when you knock on the door to give the occupant sufficient time to open the door." (Page 37). He was also asked, "Based on the training that you've received with regards to the policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department, what is the purpose of the knock and announce rule?" He responded, "Again, we perform a knock and announce, again, to make the occupant aware that the police are on their -- at their door and allow them time, sufficient time, typically 25, 30 seconds, to open the door." (Page 38) He was asked, "How long -- how much time passed between that knock and the front door being breached?" He replied, "If I was to guess, 15, 20 seconds perhaps" (Page 39) (This information is inconsistent with the timing sequence I conducted utilizing the video obtained.) Lieutenant Monk was asked, "But regardless, the point being that you knew that you were giving less time than you would have if it had been a front door that you knew was occupied, correct?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 42). He also stated, "I followed my training, but no, I did not allow the 30 seconds." (Page 44) This clearly shows that Lieutenant Monk was aware of providing sufficient time to surrender the residence, but purposely did not allow that time. He later revealed that there were no exigent circumstances to breach the door earlier. (Page 44).

Lieutenant Monk also agreed that Sergeant Mellody could have figured out whether or not it was necessary to go through the first-floor apartment to get to the second floor (Page 51) and could have called the property management (Page 52). He indicated he was not aware of a rear door prior to breaching Ms. Alvarado's door. (Page 53). Later, Lieutenant Monk was asked, "That door that was breached, prior to breaching that door, you were not concerned with allowing enough time for anyone who might be behind that door an opportunity to voluntarily surrender the premises, correct?" He replied, "Incorrect, because again, we performed a knock and announce. Though it may have been shorter, we did perform a knock and announce." (Page 83). When asked, "So is it your testimony that you ordered the breach of Ms. Alvarado's front door sooner than you might have otherwise because you heard dogs barking?" He replied, "That combined with the fact that typically it's an exterior door and there are apartment doors behind it." (Page 86). (This again shows that there were no exigent circumstances in this situation. Also, he is suggesting that he has not reached the "No doubt" threshold as per PPD policy.) Also, if the exterior opened into a common hallway or foyer, the allotted time must still be given to answer and surrender the residence. It was also to his knowledge that no one under his command made any effort to ascertain who resided on the first floor. (Page 93). He was later asked, "Was there any higher requirement implemented by the Philadelphia Police Department, to your knowledge, for breaching someone's front door, other than mere possibility that that door might lead to a residence where you were legally allowed to be?" He replied, "Not that I am aware of." Again, PPD directive 5.7 related to search warrants states the "executing officer have no doubt as to who or what can be seized and where they may be found."

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Edward Song dated 5/15/23. Officer Song was identified as the individual who discharged his firearm mortally wounding Ms. Alvarado's dog during this incident. He was also the first individual who entered the residence to execute the search warrant. He was asked, "Please tell me to the best of your understanding what the knock and announce rule is?" He replied, "You knock and announce the warrant charges, you give ample amount of time for the person to come answer the door, and if they don't answer then the order is given to breach the door." (Page 18) He also indicated that between knocking and breaching, you should allow at least 30-40 seconds. (Page 21). When asked, "When you executed the warrant at Ms. Alvarado's house, did you have any information provided to you as to who lived on the first floor of that building?" He replied, "We were given information -- no. We were just given information that it was -homicide gave us a warrant to serve on this gentleman that was wanted for homicide, he was supposed to be in the second-floor rear and that's who we were going after." Officer Song later confirmed the area they entered into the residence by looking at the picture (Song Exhibit 1) that there was no second floor above it. (Page 32) and also "that there is no second floor in that front room." (Page 33)

When Officer Song was asked, "When you walked through the door that had been breached, did it occur to you that you might be entering the residence of someone other than the person named on the warrant?" He replied, "Ninety percent or even more than that, if there's a two-story apartment you can enter the front door and it's like a foyer area and it's a separation from going straight and going up to the second floor and another door that goes into the first floor." (Page 40). As previously stated, Officer Song acknowledged there was no second floor at the front of the residence, therefore, it would have been unreasonable to gain access to the 2nd floor from the front first floor. Officer Song advised the residence had a rear door and the warrant actually stated "rear" on it. (Page 43). He was asked, "Based on your training from the Philadelphia Police Department, do you believe that enough ample time was provided to Ms. Alvarado between the door being knocked on, for her to answer the door before the door was breached?" He replied, "I believe there was" and "Like I said before, 30 to 40 seconds at the least. (Page 65 & 66). Officer Song later stated there were no exigent circumstances during the execution of the warrant. (Page 67 & 76). He later advised when shown PPD Directive 5.7 related to search warrants, that he could not recall seeing that document prior. (Page 92). When asked, "In your opinion, having, you know, whatever training you've received from the Philadelphia Police Department and the fact that you were there, do you believe that Ms. Alvarado was given an opportunity to surrender the premises before her front door was breached?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 93). Officer Song was then asked, "Right. So, if only two seconds passed between the knock and the door being breached, would it be fair to say that she was not given an opportunity to surrender the premises?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 95).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Ashford dated 5/22/23. He was asked, "So based on the training that you've received as a member of the Philadelphia Police Department, how much time should you let pass between knocking on someone's front door to -- to enforce a warrant and before you actually breach the front door? He replied, "I would say 20 to 30 seconds." (Page 40). He was also asked, "My question is do you personally know -- just a yes or no question. Do you personally know what the policies and procedures are of the Philadelphia Police Department with regards to the knock-and-announce rule?" He replied, "No." (Page 44).

I again reviewed the deposition of Detective Scally. Detective Scally advised he had a lot of experience with search and arrests warrants (Page 11) and is familiar with the policies and procedures of them (Page 12). He advised he heard the knocks on the door then heard the door rammed (Page 14). He believed officers waited 15-30 seconds after the knock and announce prior to entry (Page 14). (That was inconsistent with what was viewed in the video.) When asked to explain the meaning of knock and announce, he stated, "That is what I basically described, a knock and announce what they are here for. Usually, it's a search warrant or arrest warrant. And then they wait a certain amount of minutes or not minutes, but time. And then they breach the door." (Page 15)

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Quintana dated 5/23/23. He was asked, "Are you familiar with something called the knock and announce rule? He replied, "Yes." He was asked, "What is the knock and announce rule? He replied, "When you announce that you're serving a warrant, you're supposed to give about 30 seconds to a minute before you breach the property." (Page 17). When asked about training for the "knock and announce rule," he was asked, "So it's your testimony that at least once a year you and the other members of the SWAT Unit are informed that there's something called the knock and announce rule that requires you to allow at least 30 to 60 seconds between knocking on a front door and attempting to breach the property, correct?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 19). He was also asked, "So from your position in the rear of the building, you could actually hear someone yell breach?" He replied, "No. I could hear when they knock and announce and then I could hear the actual breach, like a ram hitting a door." (Page 16). Officer Quintana was asked, "So when the ram hit the door, that was loud enough that you could actually hear it hit the door from the rear of the building?" He replied, "Yes." (Page 16). He was asked, "How much time passed between the knock and the door being breached?" He replied, "I don't recall. Anywhere from 30 seconds to a minute." (Page 16). "When you say anywhere between 30 seconds and a minute, what's your basis for that?" He replied, "Based on what I remember between the knock and announce, the screams, you know, the officer screaming they were serving a warrant, and then based on the time that I could hear the door get breached and then more or less the time between that and the one gunshot, that was maybe a minute, minute and a half." (Page 16). He was asked, "Do you think it's possible that your experience that officers should allow at least 30 to 60 seconds under the knock and announce rule has been so routine in your experience, something you've experienced so many times, that you may remember this incident as a time where that rule was followed because you've seen it followed so many times?" He replied, "I was going by my memory from being in the rear and listening to radio communication as to when they arrived. It's just based on my memory." (Page 21).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Eric Clark dated 9/21/23. He confirmed he has received training on the "knock and announce rule" as being a member of the PPD. When asked, "Is your only knowledge as to what the knock and announce rule training that you've received from the Philadelphia Police Department?" He responded, "Yes. I would say that's basically we're told to knock and announce, give a reasonable amount of time depending on the circumstances and breach the door." (Page 19). He indicated when the SWAT Unit is executing a search warrant, the supervisor says when to breach the door (Page 24). He was asked if he could wait as little as 10 seconds, he advised, "Yeah, if exigent circumstances or something to that nature, yeah, possibly." (Page 26) He later indicated he was not aware of any exigent circumstances (Page 67). Officer Clark was asked, "Under the knock and announce rule, when you knock and announce your presence, are you required to give the occupants of the structure enough time to voluntarily surrender the structure?" He responded, "Yes." (Page 33) When asked, "And you definitely never received any training from the Philadelphia Police Department about providing a certain amount of time or anything like that, correct?" He responded, "Like I said, not that I'm aware of." (Page 34) Officer Clark confirmed he had the ram and breached the door because he was told to by the supervisor (Page 64). He also advised there was only a few seconds before the door was breached after the knock (Page 70). After being shown the video and confirming it was only approximately seven seconds until the door was breached after the knock, he was asked, "So at most we've got about seven seconds. Does that comply with the requirements of the knock and announce rule under your understanding pursuant to whatever training you've received from the Philadelphia Police Department, including the SWAT unit?" He responded, "Yea, I guess." (Page 80) Officer Clark later advised it was a reasonable amount of time (Page 82).

I reviewed the deposition of Officer Cyprian Scott dated 9/21/23. When he was asked why was the building breached, he responded, "There was no answer at the door after numerous times knocking and announcing police." (Page 16) When he was asked how much time passed between the first knock until the door was breached, he responded, "I would say a good minute to a minute -- about a minute, minute 15 seconds maybe." (Page 16)  These two answers are inconsistent with what is seen on the video of the breach as my timing sequence indicates.  He indicated he heard the officer knocking on the door (Page 16). When asked if he had ever heard of something called the knock and announce rule, he advised, "I believe you knock and announce and you wait at least 45 seconds, if I'm not mistaken, before a door has to be breached." (Page 16) Officer Scott stated that is how he was trained by the PPD. (Page 17). He advised it was a violation of the constitution to enter a private citizen's residence without knocking and announcing first (Page 19) When asked as of June 4, 2021 that if you hadn't waited at least 45 seconds before entering Ms. Alvarado's property, that was a violation of the constitution, correct?" He responded, "Yes." (Page 19).

I believe the officers did not wait a reasonable amount of time prior to entering into the residence. The only explanation Lieutenant Monk and Sergeant Mellody provided was a dog began barking. This was not a "no knock" search warrant. It was a "knock and announce" warrant, therefore, the dog barking did not provide exigent circumstances for the officers to enter almost immediately after announcing themselves and did not place the officers at a tactical disadvantage or increase safety issues. "The dignity and privacy protected by the fourth amendment demand a certain propriety on the part of policemen even after they have been authorized to invade an individual's privacy. Regardless of how great the probable cause to believe a man guilty of a crime, he must be given a reasonable opportunity to surrender his privacy voluntarily."10

Again, the timing sequence depicts a very short amount of time the officers allowed for Ms. Alvarado to answer the door, just because a dog began to bark. "Accordingly, even where the police duly announce their identity and purpose, forcible entry is still unreasonable and hence violative of the Fourth Amendment if the occupants of the premises sought to be entered and searched are not first given an opportunity to surrender the premises voluntarily." In the search warrant it states the following items of evidence that the police were looking for:

"Any and all firearms, ammunition, or other ballistic evidence, clothing including dark colored pants, dark belt, black, white, and orange or red Puma sneakers, cellular phone, and any and all other items deemed to be of evidentiary value to this investigation." (D000058)

I don't believe the officers were in fear of the suspect escaping as officers were in the front and rear of the residence, and they were attempting to locate the suspect on the 2nd floor rear. I also don't believe officers were in fear of the suspect destroying evidence.

According to Rule 207, I don't believe there were any exigent circumstances that would allow the forcible entry into the residence without allowing reasonable amount of time to surrender the premises. As previously stated, there was no added safety issue from the barking dog or tactical disadvantage to enter for safety reasons. No officers provided an exigent circumstance during their depositions.

Both Officer Clark and Officer Murray gave conflicting information in their depositions of who performed the knock and announce on the date of this incident. It is clear one person conducted the knock and announce while a separate person conducted the breach of the door with the ram. The video has no audio and the person who conducted the knock and announce goes out of view for a few seconds when they approach the door. Regardless of who conducted the knock and announce, there was insufficient time between that and when the door was breached to allow a person reasonable amount of time to voluntarily surrender their residence, and in this case, also secure the dog who was mortally wounded.

Opinion 3: Lieutenant Monk and Sergeant Mellody failed to supervise the operation properly from the "recon" of the residence to the execution of the search warrant.

From the documentation provided for this case, it appeared that Lieutenant Monk was the highest-ranking officer for this operation. According to SOP, he would be the individual who approved this operation. He ordered the execution of the search warrant at the wrong address as listed in the search warrant, and also ordered officers to execute the search warrant prior to allowing a reasonable amount of time for the resident to allow SWAT entry into the building to voluntarily surrender the residence.

A review of PPD Directive 5.7 Search Warrants also states;

- C. Exceptions to the Knock and Announce Rule
 - 1. The only exceptions to the "knock and announce" rule which will permit an officer to disregard its provisions are:
 - a. When occupants remain silence after repeated knocking and identification by officers and continued compliance with the Rule would be fruitless;
 - b. When the police are virtually certain that the occupants of the premises already know their purpose;
 - c. When the police have reason to believe that an announcement prior to their entry would imperil their safety; and
 - d. The police have reason to believe that evidence is about to be destroyed.
 - 2. Sworn personnel should be prepared to clearly articulate to the courts why the "knock and announce" rule was violated and produce any evidence to support their decision to do so.
 - 3. In addition, where exigent circumstances have occurred during the servicer of the warrant, they will be noted on the Complaint or Incident Report (75-48). The assigned investigator will also describe on the Investigation Report (75-49), in detail, the exigent circumstances and explain why the "knock and announce" rule was violated."

I have received no documentation that explains why the officers violated the "knock and announce" rule by not providing a reasonable amount of time for the occupant to answer the door and voluntarily surrender her residence. Lieutenant Monk stated in his typed statement (D000044) that he gave the order to breach after hearing the dog bark. As stated in the timing sequence, Officer Clark began to walk to the door to utilize the ram approximately 2 seconds after the knock and announce and 8 seconds before the first time the ram was utilized. This was not only a clear violation of the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code 207, but also PPD Directive 5.7.

I reviewed PPD SOP 26 SWAT Unit Operational Planning. It states:

- "2. Responsibility
- A. The supervisor, who will brief the Operation, will be responsible to establish the Operational Plan unless exigent circumstances exist.

B. The Operational Plan will be approved by the highest-ranking SWAT Supervisor available, through the chain of Command."

During the deposition of Lieutenant Monk, he was asked, "the warrant specifically says second floor rear, does it not?" He replied, "I have not seen the warrant." (Page 27).

Sergeant Mellody was the supervisor who was responsible for the reconnaissance of the residence. He conducted no surveillance and did not take into account of how the second-story was set back from the first floor. In his deposition he advised he was responsible for where they would make entry into the residence. He stated he was notified of the warrant when he arrived at work the night before. He had 2 days to execute the warrant. More time was available to do a more though and complete reconnaissance in order for the correct apartment to be searched.

I reviewed the discipline history of Lt Monk. If I am reading it properly, it states that LT Monk was found guilty of an administrative charge of "Neglect of Duty" for failing to supervise on 5/2/03. He again, was found guilty on a separate administrative charge for "Neglect of Duty" for failing to supervise on 7/17/09.

Opinion 4: The Philadelphia Police Department improperly investigated this incident and provided inconsistent information about what had occurred pertaining to the execution of the search warrant and breach of the residence of Felishatay Alvarado.

I reviewed the following three documents:

- 1. Officer Involved Shooting (OIS) Investigation Unit Preliminary Report (D000121-D000122) prepared by Detective Horn dated 6/4/21. The OIS investigation Unit Preliminary Report states on page 1 (D000121);
 - "Sergeant Mellody was a part of the entry team with additional officers; the SWAT Unit was positioned (in a stack formation) at the front door: they knocked and announced their presence with no response from inside of the home. At that point, members of the SWAT Unit heard a dog barking from inside. A second knock and announce was performed with negative results and the dog continued to bark. Lieutenant Monk ordered the front door entry team to breach the front door, utilizing a ram."
- 2. Officer Involved Shooting Investigation Unit Final Report (D000003-D000010) prepared by Detective Horn. The Final Report states on page 1 (D00003);

"The SWAT Unit was stacked at the front door residence and knocked and announced their presence with no response from inside of the home. SWAT subsequently used a ram to take down the front door and entered the residence."

3. Memorandum to the Police Commissioner from the Commanding Officer of Internal Affairs Division prepared by Lieutenant Mark Bugieda dated 1/3/23. The memorandum states on page 1;

"Upon their arrival, the SWAT officers positioned themselves in a stacked formation at the front door of the residence, knocked and announced their presence. The officers received no response from inside the residence. SWAT officers then heard a dog barking inside the residence. Lieutenant Monk gave an order to breach the front door, utilizing a ram. Officer Clark then struck the entrance door with a ram, breaching the door." (D000110)

On page 10 the memorandum states;

"Upon their arrival, the SWAT officers positioned themselves in a stacked formation at the front door of the residence. Officer Clark knocked and announced their presence. The officers received no response from inside the residence, but the officers could hear a dog barking from inside the residence. Lieutenant Monk gave an order to breach the front door, utilizing a ram." (D000119)

As I showed with the timing sequence, I obtained from viewing the video surveillance from the Deli three doors down (Surveillance video A10_20210604053500_002.mp4), the video clearly shows the officers provided approximately 2 seconds before giving the order to breach the door after they "knocked and announced," and approximately 8 seconds when the door was first struck with the ram. The OIS Preliminary Report states a second knock and announce was performed which clearly did not happen. It is understandable that the Preliminary Report may have inaccurate information as all the facts of the case may not have been collected when the report was prepared. The Final Report also states that "no response" was obtained. In the Final Report Detective Horn wrote that the video surveillance was collected from the front and rear of the residence, therefore, he must have viewed it as he wrote, "Exterior cameras from both the front and rear were recovered and show SWAT lining up and entering the property." (D000009). The video and timing sequence shows that statement to be inaccurate as no reasonable amount of time was allowed for Ms. Alvarado to answer the door.

The report prepared by Lieutenant Bugieda also states that "no response" was obtained when officers "knocked and announced." He wrote in his report on page 8 the timed events as they occurred on video (D000117) as shown below:

"Title: A10 20210604053500.MP4, Camera 10

Length: Thirty-four (34) minutes and fifty-nine (59) seconds.

- At 5:37:04 AM, SWAT officers line up on the sidewalk, while front containment and breach officers are positioned in front of 4664 Torresdale Avenue.
- At 5:37:27 AM, a SWAT officer strikes the front door of 4664 Torresdale A venue with a ram. SWAT officers in a stacked position enter 4664 Torresdale Avenue. Approximately two (2) minutes later, the

Phone: 609-214-6449

SWAT officers exit the property through the front door, and walk around the block to the rear of the property."

I agree with his time that the SWAT officer strikes the door at 5:37:27 which is indicated on my timing sequence, but Lieutenant Bugieda failed to document when the officer "knocked and announced" and when the officer began to approach the door to strike it with the ram, therefore, he did not understand that no reasonable amount of time was provided to Ms. Alvarado to surrender her residence to officers. These investigation reports failed to indicate that officers violated Directive 5.7 pertaining to "Search Warrants" as well as the Pennsylvania Rules of Criminal Code, Rule 207, and SOP 31 "SWAT Unit Warrant Service."

Opinion 5: The Philadelphia Police Department violated Felishatay Alvarado's 4th Amendment rights when Officer Song discharged his firearm mortally wounding the dog that was considered property of Felishatay Alvarado by not allowing her time to secure her dog which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.

As previously stated in this report, the PPD did not wait a reasonable amount of time before breaching the 1st floor front apartment of Felishatay Alvarado. Again, this was a "knock and announce" search warrant where Pennsylvania Rule 207 and PPD Directive 5.7 clearly indicate that police must wait a "reasonable amount of time" prior to entering into a premises to execute a search warrant. As shown by the video surveillance and timing sequence I constructed, Officer Clark began walking to the front door with the breaching tool approximately 2 seconds after the "knock and announce" was conducted. Lieutenant Monk advised "I could hear a dog barking and I gave the order to breach." (Monk typed statement Page 2, D000044). Due to the fact that a reasonable amount of time was not provided for Felishatay Alvarado to voluntarily surrender her residence prior to the breach of the front door, it also did not allow for her to secure her dog. "A seizure of property occurs when there is some meaningful interference with an individual's possessory interests in that property."12 The dog was clearly property of Felishatay Alvarado while she was inside her home. Again, there was no exigent circumstances to immediately enter the residence while executing a "knock and announce" search warrant. Officer Song later discharged his firearm one time mortally wounding the dog in the living room of the residence. "Destroying property meaningfully interferes with an individual's possessory interest in that property." ¹³ In Pennsylvania, by statute, "All dogs are declared to be personal property and subjects of theft."14 I understand that this search warrant was pertaining to a homicide investigation where an individual was shot, but again, this was a "knock and announce" search warrant.

I reviewed PPD Directive 10.1 "Use of Force-Involving the Discharge of Firearms." It states:

1. Police Officers shall not discharge their firearm at a dog or other animal except to protect themselves or another person from physical injury and there is no other reasonable means to eliminate the threat, or when acting consistently with existing Department guidelines authorizing the human destruction of a deer."

As previously stated, there was no exigent circumstances to enter the residence to violate the "knock and announce" rule. The officers heard the dog barking when they were outside the front 1st floor residence and attempt no other means to control or secure the dog prior to breaching the door.

I also reviewed the "Dog Encounters" training block that was provided to Officer Song after the incident occurred (D000235-D000241). It states on page 1:

B. Training Objectives

- Identify and respond to indicators that a dog is present in a location.
- 1. Failing to anticipate a dog on the premises is a frequent mistake that officers make.
- 2. Food/water bowls, leashed/chains, worn paths in lawn usually mean the presence of a dog.
- 3. Notify owner that you are there and tell them to contain their dog.
- 4. Make noise, shake fence, call to dog to avoid surprises for you or the dog.
- Identify tools and methods of avoiding or warding off a dog attack.
- 1. Officers' body position, tone of voice, and other "tricks" can avoid their being perceived as a threat by the dog.
- 2. Baton, night stick, ASP. Pepper spray tools readily at hand-can be used to counter a dog attack.
- 3. When all other means fail to stop the threat, lethal force is justified."

Officer Songs and all the other officers on scene including Lieutenant Monk clearly knew a dog was present and failed to have a contingency plan to deal with it or utilize any other reasonable means to secure the dog. Officer Song or any other officer on scene made no attempt to utilize other tools at their disposal. According to Officer Song's Internal Affairs Typed Statement (D000125-000131), he turned to the left as he entered the residence to clear the corner of the room (D000126). He then advised "the rest of the team was heading back toward the back of the first floor" (D000127). This clearly shows that while Officer Song was dealing with the dog, it did not stop the remainder of the SWAT Unit from performing their job, therefore, no further danger or exigent circumstances existed.

I reviewed the deposition of Lieutenant Monk. When asked, "As of June 2021, to your knowledge, did the Philadelphia Police Department have any sort of policy or procedure in place as to how members of the SWAT Unit should deal with dogs at private residences, if they encounter them?" He replied, "I can't state that there is a policy in regards to that, no." (Page 78).

OPINION 6: The Philadelphia Police Department failed to follow nation standards in the planning and execution of this search warrant.

I reviewed the letter from the Pennsylvania Law Enforcement Accreditation Commission (P.L.E.A.C.) dated October 28, 2021. It stated that the Commission unanimously voted to re-accredit the Philadelphia Police Department. This insinuates that the PPD was accredited prior to this and would predate the date of this incident which was June 4, 2021. The PPD Directive 5.7 pertaining to search warrants dated 4/29/16 lists PLEAC standards 1.2.3, 2.7.1, 2.7.2 a,b,c,d,e as referred to in their directive. These standards only state that the police department should have a directive on how legal processes (such as search warrants) should be documented for records purposes. The standards are listed below are updated from 4/22:

LEGAL PROCESS

Records

- 2.7.1 A written directive that includes information regarding each item of legal process, civil and/or criminal, shall be recorded and include, at minimum, the following elements: (04/19)
 - a. date received;
 - b. type of legal process, civil or criminal;
 - c. nature of document;
 - d. source of document;
 - e. name of plaintiff/complainant or name of defendant/respondent;
 - f. officer assigned for service;
 - g. date of assignment;
 - h. court docket number, warrant number, or other identifying number; and
 - i. date service is due or date of service.

Narrative: This system of records should allow entries to be retrieved by docket number, name or unique number assigned to allow cross-reference.

- 2.7.2 A written directive that provides for procedures for and documenting of a record of the execution or attempted service of legal process documents shall be maintained and include at minimum, the following elements: (04/19) (04/22)
 - a. date and time service was executed/attempted;
 - b. name of sworn law enforcement officer(s) executing/attempting service; (04/22)
 - c. name of person on whom legal process was served/executed;
 - d. method of service/reason for non-service; and (04/22)
 - e. address of service/attempt.; and (04/22)

f. execution of criminal arrest warrants, civil arrest warrants, or writs requiring the seizure of real or personal property are to be performed by a sworn law enforcement officer. (04/22)

Narrative: Basic information must be maintained for each execution or attempted execution of legal process documents.

I located the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) Model Policy pertaining to executing search warrants dated February 2005. The IACP is the world's largest and most influential professional association for police leaders. With more than 33,000 members in over 170 countries, the IACP is a recognized leader in global policing, committed to advancing safer communities through thoughtful, progressive police leadership. Since 1893, the association has been serving communities by speaking out on behalf of law enforcement and advancing leadership and professionalism in policing worldwide. The policy states:

B. Preparation for Executing the Warrant

1. The case agent and tactical coordinator, where required, work cooperatively to ensure proper preparation, planning, and service of the warrant. They shall detail procedures for executing the warrant to all team members in a warrant service briefing. The plan briefing shall be conducted by both the case agent and tactical coordinator and will include but not necessarily be limited to the following:

- a. The specific items subject to the search as defined in the warrant and any available information on their location.
- b. Information concerning the structure to be search and surroundings, to include floor plans where available, mockups, photos, and diagrams of the location identifying entrances, exits, obstructions, fortifications, garages, outlying buildings, suspect vehicles, and all other points of concern.
- c. Suspects and other occupants who may be present at the location—incorporating photos or sketches whenever possible—with emphasis on suspect threat potential, as well as the presence of children, the elderly or others who may not be involved with suspects.
- d. A complete review of the tactical plan to include the staging area, route of approach; individual assignments for entry, search, management of evidence, custody and handling of seized vehicles, custody of prisoners, and post-execution duties such as securing the location and conducting surveillance on the site for additional suspects.
- e. Personnel, resources, or armament necessary for gaining entry, safety and security of officers, or for conducting the search.

Page 50 of 57

- f. If a joint agency task force operation, all officers participating in the warrant service shall be present and identified as members of the warrant service team.
- g. Contingency plans for encountering hazardous materials, canines, booby traps, fortifications or related hazards; measures to take in case of injury or accident, to include the nearest location of trauma or emergency care facilities
- h. Procedures for exiting the location under emergency conditions.

C. Entry Procedures

- 1. If an advance surveillance team is at the target site, radio contact shall be made to ensure that the warrant can be served according to plan.
- 2. The search personnel shall position themselves in accordance with the execution plan.
- 3. Notification
 - a. An easily identifiable police officer shall knock and notify persons inside the search site, in a voice loud enough to be heard inside the premises, that he/she is a police officer and has a warrant to search the premises, and that he/she demands entry to the premises at once.
 - b. Following the knock and announce, officers shall delay entry for an appropriate period of time based on the size and nature of the target site and time of day to provide a reasonable opportunity for an occupant to respond (normally between 15 and 20 seconds). If there is reasonable suspicion to believe that the delay would create unreasonable risks to the officers or others, inhibit the effectiveness of the investigation, or would permit the destruction of evidence, entry may be made as soon as practicable.

APPENDIX A: PRE-SEARCH PLANNING CHECKLIST

- A. Target Location Considerations
 - 1. Can the site be penetrated by gunfire?
 - 2. Does the target site pose a fire hazard?
 - 3. Are there underground parking facilities, attached garages, or additional buildings on the curtilage?
 - 4. Where are the access points, on upper and lower levels, approach issues related to access points, and points of cover at approach point(s)?
 - 5. Which way do doors and windows open?
 - 6. Does the target site have an alarm system or warning device?

- 7. Is there evidence of reinforced entrances or fortifications?
- 8. Barred windows or doors
- 9. Backing mesh
- 10. Appearance of double locks on doors?
- 11. Are there any lookouts, and if so, where, how many, warning devices used, signals?
- 12. Evidence of children, such as bicycles or swings?
- 13. Evidence of elderly, disabled, handicapped or other uninvolved persons?
- 14. Unusual obstacles to entrance?
- 15. Can a reasonably accurate floor plan be obtained or constructed?
- 16. Attitude of neighbors: hostile or friendly?
- 17. Evidence of dogs? If so, how can they best be controlled?
- 18. Where is the electrical box and is it accessible?

I also reviewed the IACP "Concepts and Issues" pertaining to the execution of search warrants dated February 2006 which states:

Whenever possible, photographs should be taken of the location and the immediate surroundings. If available, a helicopter is ideal for taking photographs. Photographs can identify safe approach routes and provide views of areas obstructed by vegetation, fencing, walls, or other natural or manmade obstacles that could affect the approach or entry. Other useful photographs can be easily obtained from a surveillance location, or stationary or moving vehicle. For example, if it is a detached home, the officer should note the proximity of adjoining homes and should attempt to determine who occupies these locations. If occupants of those locations are sympathetic to or in conspiracy with suspects at the target site, they may serve to alert the suspects to either police surveillance or their approach to the location. On the other hand, if neighbors or others occupying locations in the immediate area are cooperative and trustworthy, they may allow authorities to utilize their locations briefly for purposes of surveillance. Video cameras are also very useful in this regard as they may cover more area in a shorter time frame and add greater continuity to photographic coverage.

The same type of information should be established for multiple family units with added emphasis on safety should it be necessary to use firearms. The volume and nature of pedestrian and vehicular traffic in the immediate area should be established at the time of day in which the warrant will be executed. This information will have obvious safety implications for the operation, dictate whether special consideration should be given to traffic control, and will also help to establish whether there is a need to deal with lookouts or other accomplices that may be operating in the area.

I reviewed the PPD Directive 10.4; Use of Force Review Board (UFRB). It states that "all police involved shootings shall be reviewed." (Page 1) Although this incident did not involve deadly force toward a citizen, it did involve the discharge of an officer's duty weapon during the course of their duties. The directive also states, "No Use of Force Violations, but Other Departmental Violation Discovered: The actions of the officer were in accordance with Departmental Use of Force policy or objectively reasonable under extraordinary circumstances, but other Departmental violations not related to the use of force are discovered. The review will be marked "Justified - Use of Force within Departmental Policy – Other Departmental Violations Discovered - Not within Departmental Policy."

NOTE: The Chairperson will notify the Police Commissioner in writing and forward the case to the charging unit for the appropriate disciplinary charges to be filed against the officer." (Page 3)

I opine that several departmental violations occurred during the course of this incident as previously stated which include the executing the search warrant at the wrong location, and not following the knock and announce rule which also led to the shooting of the dog. I requested, but did not receive, the complete IAB investigation which would have documented any department violations if they occurred. I also requested the Use of Force Review Board documentation and recordings which were not provided to me. The UFRB would also have department violations documented if they occurred. On Page 11 of Lt Bugieda's memorandum to the Police Commissioner, it states:

"This investigation Report should be forwarded to the Use of Force Review Board (UFRB) to review the totality of the circumstances and issue a final determination regarding the Philadelphia Police Department's policy Directive #10.1, pertaining to the use of deadly force."

Opinion 7: The Philadelphia Police Department failed to train its officers on policies and how to deal with dog encounters.

A review of the officers' depositions showed that a large majority of the them stated they have had no training on dog encounters, specifically Lt Monk and Sergeant Mellody (Supervisors on scene) as well as Officer Song (Officer who mortally wounded the dog belonging to Ms. Alvarado.) A review of PPD SOP #36 – SWAT Unit Dog Neutralization Policy states:

- 1. Policy.
- A. SWAT personnel will use every means available to have vicious animals secured.
 - 1. Have owner secure the animal.
 - 2. Ensnare the animal.

Page 53 of 57

- 3. Remove or confine the animal.
- 4. Request the assistance of the PACCA.

B. SWAT personnel will not place themselves or allow others to place themselves in unnecessary or unreasonable danger of serious bodily injury by vicious animals.

- C. When there are no reasonable means of securing the animal, deadly force is justifiable against viscous animals. All guidelines of PD # 10 shall apply.
- D. If the animal is secured or contained and no one is claiming ownership PACCA will be notified
 - 2. SWAT Unit Supervisor Responsibility
 - A. Ensure alternative methods are considered when viscous animals may be present.
 - 1. High volume OC spray
 - 2. Dog Noose

A review of the "Dog Encounters" training states the following:

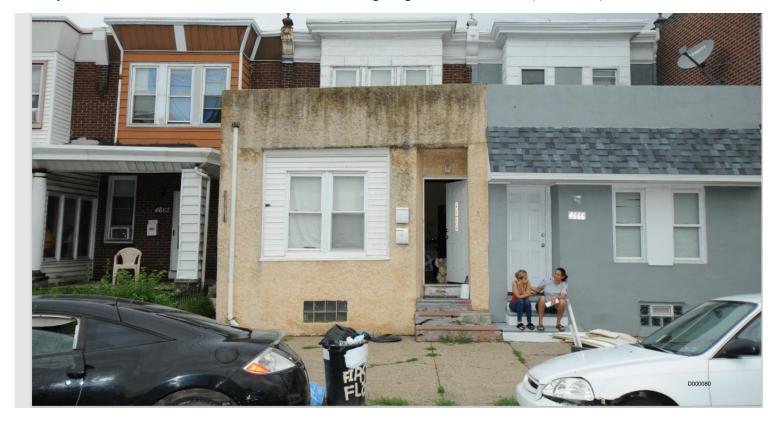

- B. Training Objectives
 - Identify and respond to indicators that a dog is present in a location.
 - 1. Failing to anticipate a dog on the premises is a frequent mistake that officers make.
 - 2. Food/water bowls, leashed/chains, worn paths in lawn usually mean the presence of a dog.
 - 3. Notify owner that you are there and tell them to contain their dog.
 - 4. Make noise, shake fence, call to dog to avoid surprises for you or the dog.
 - Identify tools and methods of avoiding or warding off a dog attack.
 - 1. Officers' body position, tone of voice, and other "tricks" can avoid their being perceived as a threat by the dog.
 - 2. Baton, night stick, ASP. Pepper spray tools readily at hand-can be used to counter a dog attack.
 - 3. When all other means fail to stop the threat, lethal force is justified."

I opine that the officers were not prepared to handle a dog encounter during this incident and did not even consider other alternatives prior to entering the residence. I have seen conflicting photographs regarding the "Beware of Dog" sign that was placed in the left front window of the Ms. Alvarado's residence. The following is a Crime Scene photograph of taken after the incident occurred by Crime Scene detectives on the day of the incident. It shows no "Beware of Dog" sign in the window (D000080).

The following photograph was exhibited and shown as plaintiff 4 which clearly shows the "Beware of Dog" sign in the left window:

If the sign was present in the hours leading up to the execution of the search warrant, it would have been displayed when Detectives drove past the residence and when officers conducted their reconnaissance.

Again, referring to the timing sequence I conducted, Officer Clark began to move toward the door within approximately 2 seconds of the knock and announce after LT Monk gave the order to breach the door after hearing the dog barking. No consideration for other alternatives were considered to handle the dog. Also, by not allowing Ms. Alvarado reasonable time to voluntarily surrender the residence and secure her dog, offices placed themselves in a situation to have to use deadly force on the dog.

Page 56 of 57

Conclusion:

As previously stated, I have formulated ??? opinions that I hold to a reasonable degree of probability and certainty in the field of use of force based upon my training and experience:

- 1. SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by illegally entering into her 1st floor, front apartment without having the legal authority to do so while executing a search warrant for a defendant believed to be located inside the 2nd floor, rear apartment which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.
- 2. SWAT officers from the Philadelphia Police Department violated the 4th Amendment rights of Felishatay Alvarado by executing the search warrant by forcibly ramming the door and not allowing her a reasonable amount of time to voluntarily surrender her residence which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.
- 3. Lieutenant Monk and Sergeant Mellody failed to supervise the operation properly from the "recon" of the residence to the execution of the search warrant.
- 4. The Philadelphia Police Department improperly investigated this incident and provided inconsistent information about what had occurred pertaining to the execution of the search warrant and breach of the residence of Felishatay Alvarado.
- 5. The Philadelphia Police Department violated Felishatay Alvarado's 4th Amendment rights when Officer Song discharged his firearm mortally wounding the dog that was considered property of Felishatay Alvarado by not allowing her time to secure her dog which was also a violation of policies and procedures of the Philadelphia Police Department.
- 6. The Philadelphia Police Department failed to follow nation standards in the planning and execution of this search warrant.

7. The Philadelphia Police Department failed to train its officers on policies and how to deal with dog encounters.

I expand and support my opinions in the attached report. If more materials are provided regarding this incident, I reserve the right to add, change, and delete any of my opinions based on any provision of additional information not reviewed at the time this report was completed.

Page 13 Page 15 can't always go in the back of these properties 1 Typically when you breach a door you're using a 1 2 2 ram. So it stated that, I believe, Officer Clark, without basically alerting because we go in and do 3 again, I'd have to refer to my notes, I believe it 3 it either the night before, the day before, maybe 4 was Officer Clark did the knocking and announcing. 4 two days before, your team is going out there and 5 5 And I'm assuming he probably breached as well, but putting eyes. Unfortunately. It would look 6 I could be wrong. 6 suspicious if a bunch of cops are walking through 7 7 Okay. So your understanding of the alleyway and you don't want to alert the 8 what happened the day in question is that you and 8 target you're going after. So I don't know if 9 Officer Clark were both --9 anyone had access to seeing what the back of that 10 10 I believe Clark was. I didn't -- I property looked like prior to our actual serving 11 know that he knocked and announced. I don't know 11 of that warrant. 1	Go ahead, Officer.	1	there isn't a second-floor access from
2	THE WITNESS: Again, yes.	2	there. So if it very like I said
3	BY MR. WEST:	3	before, when you have these properties,
4	Q. Okay. When that door was breached,	4	people rehabilitate them, they change
5	however, anybody who looked inside would have seen	5	them. There's nothing saying that this
6	a normal looking apartment; right?	6	now this defendant can't go freely
7	MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Same objection and	7	from the first and second floor. So
8	object to form.	8	just in the matter of for the purpose of
9	Officer?	9	securing the property it was secured,
10	THE WITNESS: You would have seen	10	but you're not actively searching this

16	MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Same objections.	16	Q. Alvarado.
17	Officer?	17	A. Alvarado, excuse me, Alvarado's.
18	THE WITNESS: Again, we were going	18	If we now if there is flow back and forth and
19	after a homicide. Just to put it in	19	this male is coming down, he could harm her. So
20	perspective, you're going after a	20	we have to secure the property and ensure that
21	homicide suspect. So if now we have	21	she's safe. Nobody in any had any intention of
22	a duty to contain the property. We're	22	going in her property with the expectation of
23	not necessarily searching and doing all	23	encountering her or violating Constitutional
24	of that. But you we don't know that	24	Rights. It is but now that we're here we have

11 12
                         EXAMINATION
13
14
     BY MR. WEST:
15
                    All right, Ms. Shannon. My name is
            Q.
     Keith West. I'm one of the attorneys for the 16
17 plaintiff in this case, Ms. Alvarado. I'm going 18 to mark as Shannon-1 -- this is a pile of 19 documents that you brought with you today as part 20 of your appearance for today's subpoenaed 21 deposition; correct?
22
            Α.
                    Yes.
23 (Whereupon, the document was 24
```

 1 marked, for identification purposes, as 2
               Exhibit Number Shannon-1.)
 4
     BY MR. WEST:
 5
                    Okay. And let me just go through Ο.
 6
     some quick kind of preemptory things.
 7
                    Have you ever been in a deposition
     before?
 9
            Α.
                    Yes.
10
                    How many times have you been
            Q.
11 deposed?
12
            Α.
13
                    And can you tell me, just Ο.
14 generally, what that case was about?
15
                    A car accident.
            Α.
16
            Ο.
                    Okay. So unrelated to your 17 employment for the City of Philadelphia; correct?
18
            Α.
                    Yes.
19
                    And you are in fact an employee of
            Q.
20
     the City of Philadelphia; right?
21
            Α.
                    Yes.
22
                    MR. ASSINI: Well, just to clarify, 23 she is an employee of the First Judicial District, which is not -- it's not the
```

 1 same as the City of Philadelphia; 2
               however, it is -- it is the judicial 3 branch of the City of Philadelphia.
 4
               Like her -- it's separate, but the same, 5
               you know --
 6
                    MR. WEST: Well, no. That's what I am trying to figure out because I actually don't know the answer to that.
 7
 9
               Like the police department is like an entity of the City. Is -- 10
11
                    MR. ASSINI: More independent than 12 that -- 13
                    MR. WEST: That's what I'm trying 14
15
                    MR. ASSINI: -- because we're the 16 judicial branch, so that's -- 17
                    MR. SANTIAGO-PAGAN: Right.
18
                    MR. WEST: Okay. I honestly didn't 19 know the answer to that.
20
     BY MR. WEST:
21
            Q.
                    I'm sorry. So you are an employee 22 of the First Judicial District of Pennsylvania; 23 right?
24
            Α.
                    Yes.
```

 1
                    Okay. But your prior deposition
            Q.
 2 appearance was unrelated to that; right?
 3
            Α.
                    Yes.
 4
                    How long have you worked as a
            Q.
 5 parole officer?
 6
            Α.
                    Twenty-two years.
 7
                    MR. WEST: Off the record.
 9
                    (Whereupon, a discussion took place 10 off the stenographic record.) 11
12
                    MR. SANTIAGO-PAGAN: I just want to 13 state for the record that she is a probation officer, not a parole officer.
15
                    MR. ASSINI: Yes, probation.
16
               Right.
17
                    MR. WEST: Okay.
18
     BY MR. WEST:
19
               Can you just tell me quickly what
            Q.
20 is the difference between probation and parole as 21 far as the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania goes?
22
                    MR. ASSINI: If you know.
23
                    THE WITNESS: I'm trying to figure 24 out how to answer that because we do
```

Page 8
               supervise people that's on parole as well.
 2
 3
                    So, I mean, parole is if a person
 4 that has been sentenced to a jail 5 sentence and if the judge says like immediate parole, then they can serve
               their sentence out on the street.
               Probation is just if the judge sentences
 8 9
               a person to a period of probation and we 10 also supervise them on the street.
11
     BY MR. WEST:
12
                    Right. Probation is a probationary
            Q.
13 release from prison. If the person doesn't meet 14
     the terms, they go back to prison; correct?
15
                    It depends on the judge and if it's
            Α.
     like a technical violation or a direct violation.
16
17
                    Okay. And you, in your capacity,
            Q.
18 you would supervise people who are released both 19 under probation and under parole; correct?
20
            Α.
                    Yes.
21
            Q.
                    What is your actual job title?
22
                    I'm an Armed Probation Officer II,
            Α.
     so I carry a firearm.
23
24
                    And how long have you had that
            Q.
```

            Α.
                    I've been doing the job for almost 14 years, but technically didn't get classified

     until last July.
 5
                    The incident giving rise to this
            Ο.
     case occurred a little over two years ago. Do you know what your job title would have been back then?
 6
 9
            Α.
                    Still a probation and parole officer and I was still armed, but I wasn't 10 11 classified as that.
12
                    MR. ASSINI: Can I -- 13
                    MR. WEST: Yes, please.
14
                    MR. ASSINI: So our probation
15 officers are part of a union, and as 16 part of the collective bargaining 17 agreement that was most recent, part of 18 that was creating a new classification 19 for armed officers and giving them a 20 different salary scale because it 21 requires extra things to -- 22
                    MR. WEST: Training.
23
                    MR. ASSINI: -- you know, be armed,
24 training and certifications and renewal.

                Okay. So have you always been an

            Α.
                    No.
            Q.
                    When did you first become an armed

                    I want to say 2011-ish. I can't remember the exact date.
10
11

            Α.
                   Yes.
14
            O.
                   So do you remember supervising

     I'm going to try to ask you a very general 20 question.
21
                    Can you tell me everything you

 9
     the person who would have been supervising back when his case initiated in 2019?
10
                    Michael Anderson.

            Q.
                    Okay. House arrest.
16
                    And that date was, again, what in 17
     2019?
18
                    MR. ASSINI: I think you said
19
               April.
20
                    THE WITNESS: It says April 26,

                    A probation parole officer.
 4
                    So generally the same as yourself?
            Q.

            Α.
                    Yes.
                    In your experience, especially in 6

 7
     the pre-COVID days back in 2019, if someone was placed on house arrest, would the probation

11
                    You can answer.

                                         They actually 13 go out and, I guess, investigate the 14 house and see if the person is eligible 15 to be on house arrest and see if the 16

                    I guess house arrest.
            Q.
 7
                    But to ask a different question
     then, do you never handle people with house arrest?
10
                    I usually get people once they complete house arrest and transfer them to our unit.
12
13
            Ο.
                    Okay. But are you still familiar 14 with what the procedures for house arrest are?
15
            Α.
                    Not a hundred percent.
16
            Ο.
                    Okay. Is it your general
17 understanding that in order for someone to be 18 placed on house arrest, a probation officer needs 19 to go to the house in question and inspect it?
20
            Α.
                    Yes.
21
            Q.
                    And are you able -- thank you for 22 bringing these records with you. I'm only getting 23 a chance to quickly scan them for the first time 24
     now.
```

Page 17

                    Are you able to look on these and 2 actually find if it's recorded anywhere that someone actually did physically go to the house
 3 4 where was living?
 5
                    Give me a second.
            Α.
 6
                    While you are looking for that, can
            Q.
 7
     I quickly ask you another question? I can see on the notation for April 29, 2019 that an NCIC check
 9
     was performed.
10
                    Do you know what NCIC would stand 11 for in this case?
12
                    It's like a GNET search. You have
            Α.
13 access to a federal database that you can look up 14 offenders' information as far as their criminal 15 history.
16
            Ο.
                    Okay.
17
                    Only thing that I could see in the 18 notes was that -- 19
            Q.
                    Yes, actually --
                    -- on 4/25/2019 that a field team 20
            Α.
21
     went out.
22
                          So if we go to April -- I'm
                    Yes.
            Q.
23 sorry. I'm asking this question a little bit inappropriately, but I'm trying not to take up
```

Page 18 1 extra of your time. 2 It specifically says right on here April 26, 2019 and somebody went to the house, and 3 4 the location is specifically specified as a second 5 floor apartment with the rear entrance off 6 Margaret Street; right? 7 Yes. But it stated that they went out on 4/25/2019. 8 9 Q. Right. So these records indicate 10 that somebody went out there and they knew at that time that the entrance to the property was through 11 12 the rear door; correct? 13 MR. ASSINI: Objection to form. 14 MR. WEST: Well, actually, strike 15 the question. It's a little bit of an 16 inappropriate question. 17 BY MR. WEST: 18 Q. And you didn't write these records; 19 right? 20 Α. Yes. 21 Q. So looking at the notation on 4/26, 22 it looks like the author's name is MatteoJ. 23 Do you think that's the person who 24 would have done the actual physical inspection of the home or do you think, from these records, it

 2
     would have been someone else?
 3
                    MR. ASSINI: If you know.
 4
                    THE WITNESS: Basically -- her name
 5 is Jaclyn Matteo. I think she gets the order and then she connects everybody to process and send people out. I don't know if she physically goes out, but I 8 know she is like the handler of the
10 house arrest applications that come 11 through or the orders. She verifies it 12 and then sends the team out to verify 13
               the address. Then once they come back, 14 they will assign it to the officer who 15 is going to be supervising the house

19 20 how this inspection occurred back in April of 21
     2019, do you think Jaclyn Matteo would be probably

            Q.
                    Did you speak with anyone else from 23 the Philadelphia Police Department regarding this or only Detective Graf?

Page 21 1 Only Detective Graf. Α. 2 Q. Can you -- today, can you remember that conversation with Detective Graf? 3 4 Yes. Α. 5 Okay. So please tell me everything Ο. you can remember about that conversation. 6 7 Do you want me to read the note or just like summarize? 8 9 Q. Well, that's what I am trying to 10 distinguish. I am trying to distinguish between if you are just reading a note that, you know, is 11 12 something that you know is written down or 13 actually what you can remember independent from 14 the notes. 15 So right now I'm asking you -- if 16 you wouldn't mind even kind of just setting the 17 paper aside for a moment and just let me know what 18 you can remember from your independent recollection, if anything. 19 20 I just remember him calling me and 21 stating how dangerous Mr. was and that he was 22 wanted for murder and they were looking at him 23 because he's been kind of terrorizing the neighborhood or the surrounding neighborhood that 24

Case 2:22-cv-03763-JFM Document 29-2 Filed 10/31/23 Page 184 of 670 Page 22 he lived in. And then, at the time, they said 1 they were going to execute a warrant at the house and they asked me have I been out. 3 4 And I said, no, because of the 5 pandemic we are not allowed to do any home visits. 6 So then he said, can you verify or 7 just tell me if the address I have is correct or do you have any alternative addresses? 8 9 So at that time, I asked my 10 supervisor -- because more recently we are not allowed to speak to certain people about releasing 11 12 information. So my supervisor said it was okay to talk with him, and the address that he said was 13 14 the same address that we had, that was in our 15 notes. So I told him that was the same address, 16 but I haven't personally been out to verify 17 through a field visit like we would normally do. 18 So they said they would just let me know if they pick him up. 19

                    Oh.
                         That's -- so back when it was
            Α.
 7 a pandemic, we only had contact with people by phone. And then after a certain amount of time,
 9 they automatically scheduled people to come in on 10 certain dates, and so they were allowed -- the people were allowed or the probationers were
12 allowed to come back into the building on that 13
     date and time.
                    So the ISTPD is the author of the Page 40 1 So Ms. Shannon, you willingly gave Q. 2 information to Officer Graf when he called you; 3 correct? 4 Yes. Α. 5 Ο. But you did that after you got permission from your supervisor; correct? 6 7 Α. Yes. 8 Q. And then where -- we are looking 9 back at the same Page 2 of 21 where it says --10 right above the 12:30 p.m. note, there's a 1:00 p.m. note. It says PO left a voicemail stating 11 12 she is looking for PP to call her back at 13 215-683-1097. 14 Do you agree that it says that? 15 Α. Yes. 16 As you sit here today, do you Ο. 17 recall why you were calling, what information you were trying to gather? 18 19 I was just trying to get in contact 20 with him to report. At the time, I haven't had a 21 phone call from him, so I just reached out to him. 22 Ο. Was the conversation that you had 23 with Homicide Detective Fran Graf, did that lead 24 you to try to make a phone call?

1 (Pages 1 to 4)

Page 5 Page 7 1 1 I am working as house arrest release coordinator the City of Philadelphia, every time somebody is 2 2 placed under house arrest, that would mean at this point. 3 3 So as part of the house release somebody from the office would have actually gone Q. 4 coordinator, do you actually go to the house of 4 to that person's house and inspected the premises, 5 5 people who are put on probation and inspect the right? 6 6 house trying to make sure that it fits any sort of MR. ASSINI: Objection to form, but 7 7 criteria for release? you can answer to the extent --8 8 THE WITNESS: Yes. MR. ASSINI: Objection to the form, 9 but you can answer. 9 BY MR. WEST: 10 THE WITNESS: No, I do not. 10 Q. So let's -- I'm going to pull up 11 11 BY MR. WEST: here a document. I can represent this was 12 12 Q. Could you tell me what do you do as e-mailed to us earlier today. Then I'll ask you 13 13 if you know what it is. Can you guys see my the home coordinator? 14 I would get a contact sheet and 14 screen here? 15 15 court order from the attorney and the judge. I A. Yes. 16 would call them on the phone. We complete an 16 Q. So we're gonna mark this as 17 17 investigation. I complete an investigation on the Matteo-Hand Exhibit-1. And could you tell me what 18 computer. I hand it into our pretrial field team. 18 this is? 19 They would go out and install the equipment at the 19 A. This is a home investigation 20 residence. 20 interview, which I complete over the phone. 21 21 Q. So I think you referred to the Q. Okay. Page 6 Page 8 1 1 in this case. And you're here represented by all pause and don't speak at the same time, okay? 2 2 Counsel. You have had a chance to confer with him A. Okay. 3 and you're prepared to testify today, correct? 3 Q. Likewise, all of our responses have to be 4 A. Yes. 4 spoken. So nods of the head, things we normally 5 5 do in a conversation won't get on the record. Q. All right. Just a couple of preliminary 6 6 questions we always have to ask. Don't read A. Of course. 7 anything into it. Are you under the influence of Q. So you have to make sure everything is 8 8 any sort of medication, substance, illness, spoken out loud, okay? 9 anything that would impair your ability to testify 9 A. Sure. 10 10 truthfully today? Q. As your attorney, I am sure has advised 11 11 A. No. you, your only obligation is to just give truthful 12 12 Q. And have you ever actually been in a testimony based on your personal information. So 13 deposition before? 13 I am not going to ask you to guess or speculate. 14 A. Yes, it's been a while. 14 A. Okay. 15 15 Q. Okay. How many times have you been Q. Just tell me what you know, okay? 16 deposed previously? 16 A. Okay. 17 17 A. I believe it was only twice. But I can Q. Now, one area that we usually advise 18 be off with the numbers. 18 people is that if you are able to give an estimate 19 Q. Okay. Could you just generally tell me 19 or approximation, that is something that we would 20 what the prior depositions were about and give me 20 like to hear from you. Just let us know what 21 21 an approximation of when they occurred, if that's you're giving an estimate or approximation. 22 possible? 22 A. Okay. 23 23 A. They were for auto accidents. And Q. Example, it's a boring example, but we 24 probably 10 plus years ago. 24 always say if I was to ask you how many feet it is Page 7 Page 9 1 1 Q. Okay. And were these auto accidents that to the wall, you're not a robot. I don't think 2 2 you were somehow a witness to in your private you can eyeball it and tell me to the inch exactly 3 capacity or were these related to being a member 3 how far it is, right? 4 of the Philadelphia Police Department? 4 A. Gotcha. Okay. 5 5 A. Just a member of the department. Q. But in your job, I bet you normally give 6 6 Q. Okay. They were both auto accidents? estimates like that, right? However, say somebody 7 7 A. Yes. grows up in France, only knows the metric system, 8 8 Q. Were you the victim in these auto I am not asking them to guess how long a foot or 9 9 accidents or -an inch is if they don't know. 10 10 A. Yes. A. No. I would have been the officer taking 11 11 the report. Q. You understand the difference, right? 12 12 Q. Okay. So you're there as a witness? A. Yeah. Definitely, yes. 13 A. Yes. 13 Q. Beyond that, this is not intended to be 14 14 Q. All right. Well, your attorney probably an unnecessarily uncomfortable thing, this isn't 15 15 explained how the format is. Just to give a an interrogation. So if you need a break at any 16 general over ground, this in many ways may feel 16 time, you want a cup of coffee or something, just like a normal conversation, which is good. We 17 17 let us know. We will try to be as accommodating 18 just have to remember that the court reporter 18 as possible. Any questions I ask you, the 19 19 assumption is that you understand it before you needs to write down what we are saying all of the 2.0 2.0 time. answer it. 21 21 A. Sure. A. Okay. 22 22 Q. So you're already doing it. Just make Q. So if you need me to rephrase a question, 23 23 speak louder, anything like that, just let us know sure we don't speak at the same time. Say your 24 24 and we will, if possible, try to restate or attorney wants to put something on the record, we

Page 10 Page 12 1 1 rephrase the question, okay? Q. Sir, I would ask you to take a moment to 2 2 A. Okay. look that over, review it. And let me know when 3 3 Q. All right, sir. Do you recall an you're prepared to continue. 4 incident -- basically, do you recall the incident 4 A. Okay. 5 that this case is about, where some members of the 5 Q. All right, sir. Do you recognize what 6 6 SWAT team went into Ms. Alvarado's house and I this is a diagram of? 7 7 guess her dog was killed. A. Yes. 8 8 Do you recall this incident? Q. Okay. Tell me what this is a diagram of. 9 A. It's pretty vague, because it's been 9 A. This would be a diagram of the living 10 10 quite some time. But I know that it was just quarters for Torresdale Avenue. 11 11 based off of the information that I saw, it was Q. Okay. Is it fair to state that this is a 12 12 June of 2021. diagram of Ms. Alvarado's apartment? 13 13 Q. Okay. But sitting here today, do you A. I don't -- I don't exactly remember the 14 actually recall the incident in June 2021 at all? 14 placement of everything that is on this diagram. 15 15 A. Some of it, yes. But it would be fair to say that this is pretty 16 Q. All right. So what do you recall? Tell 16 close. 17 17 me whatever you can remember about it. Q. Okay. To the best of your understanding, 18 A. I do remember Officer Song discharging at 18 is this consistent with Ms. Alvarado's apartment? 19 a dog. 19 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 20 Q. Okay. 20 Officer, you can answer. 21 21 A. It would be -- I guess it would have been THE WITNESS: To my knowledge, yes, 22 the living room area of the property. 22 it would be fair to say. Yes. 23 23 Q. Okay. Did you actually see Officer Song BY MR. WEST: 24 shoot the dog or do you just remember that it 24 Q. Okay. Let me ask you the question this Page 11 Page 13 1 1 happened? way. Do you recall at any point back in the 2 2 A. No, I didn't see him shoot the dog. incident in June 2021 entering Ms. Alvarado's 3 Q. Okay. And could you see what Officer 3 apartment? 4 Song was doing immediately before he discharged 4 A. Yes. 5 his firearm? 5 Q. Okay. And is there anything that you can 6 6 A. No. Immediately before Officer Song recall about the layout of her apartment, whatever 7 7 discharged, I had already passed Officer Song. So you found inside of her apartment that is 8 8 he was -- he would have been off behind me and to inconsistent with this diagram? 9 9 my left. A. I don't remember this table being in the 10 10 Q. Sure. Actually, I have -- I have a center of the room. But again, I don't remember 11 11 diagram that I will put on the record was provided if everything on this was exactly placed here. 12 to me by the Defendant's in this case. It's Bates 12 But I wouldn't be able to say that it wasn't there 13 13 stamped as D000137. either. 14 14 MR. WEST: And if there's no Q. So is it your recollection today that you 15 15 objection from Defense Counsel, we will mark don't remember there being a table? Is it your 16 this as Exhibit 1 for today's deposition. 16 sense --17 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: No objection. 17 A. I don't remember there being a table, no. 18 MR. WEST: So I will give you a 18 Q. Right. So is it your sense that this 19 19 area was kind of -copy. 2.0 2.0 A. Yes. 21 21 (Whereupon, Exhibit 1 was marked for Q. It seems obvious to us now, but when 22 22 identification.) someone is reading the record in a year it might 23 23 be more complicated. Would you mind just 24 24 BY MR. WEST: highlighting with this pink highlighter the table?

Page 14 Page 16 1 1 A. Sure. (Witness complies.) because the dog was biting at him. 2 2 Q. All right. And do you recall there being BY MR. WEST: 3 3 Q. Did you actually see a dog bite Officer a dog crate? 4 4 A. I don't recall a dog crate. 5 5 A. The dog -- when I initially saw the dog Q. Okay. All right. So could you -- I will 6 attacking Officer Song, he was attacking the back 6 give you a blue pen. Could you mark here -- let's 7 7 of Officer Song's legs. see. You and Officer Song have the same last 8 Q. Okay. But did you actually see the 8 initial. So what is the best way to put it? 9 dog -- the dog bite Officer Song? 9 Maybe if you could just do an M for me. 10 A. No. 10 A. Okay. 11 Q. Okay. All right. How did you end up in 11 Q. Could you mark to the best of memory an M 12 Ms. Alvarado's apartment that day? 12 for where you believe that you were located and 13 A. We were serving a warrant for homicide. 13 where -- and an S for where you believe Officer 14 It was an arrest and search warrant for homicide Song was located at the time that Officer Song's 14 15 at this location. 15 firearm was discharged? 16 Q. Okay. Now, is it your understanding 16 A. Okay. So S for where Officer Song was at 17 today that the warrant that you were executing 17 when he discharged and an M for me where I was at 18 actually authorized you to be inside of Ms. 18 when he discharged? 19 Alvarado's apartment? 19 Q. Yes. 20 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 20 A. Okay. So I -- I believe I was right 21 But Officer, you can answer. 21 here. And Officer Song was somewhere 22 THE WITNESS: To the best of my 22 approximately within this area right here. 23 knowledge, this warrant was for a male that 23 Q. All right. And then could you point an 24 was in the second floor rear apartment of 24 arrow pointing in the direction of where your Page 15 Page 17 1 1 eyesight was focused? this -- of this property. I believe it was 2 2 A. You want me to indicate an arrow like 6446 Torresdale. 3 which way I was looking? 3 BY MR. WEST: 4 4 Q. Right. So basically you were looking Q. Uh-huh. 5 away from the direction of Officer Song at the 5 A. Yes. 6 6 Q. Okay. So on the date of the incident, time, correct? 7 7 A. Yes. you were attempting -- you and the other officers 8 8 O. Okay. were attempting to execute a warrant that you 9 9 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Keith, just for understood authorized you to be in the second 10 10 clarification, is this the point at which he floor rear apartment? 11 11 fired? A. Uh-huh. 12 12 MR. WEST: Yes. Q. Of the building, correct? 13 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Okay. Thank you. 13 A. Yes. 14 14 BY MR. WEST: Q. Okay. And to your knowledge, did Ms. 15 Q. And -- okay. All right. That takes care 15 Alvarado live in the second floor rear apartment? 16 16 of that. 17 Do you -- do you know why Officer Song 17 Q. All right. Is it fair to say that she 18 discharged his firearm? 18 lived in apartment number one on the first floor, 19 19 A. Do I know why Officer Song discharged his correct? 2.0 2.0 firearm? A. Yes. 21 21 Q. Yes. Q. Okay. Did you believe prior to entering 22 22 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. Ms. Alvarado's home that the warrant for the 23 23 But Officer, you can answer. second floor rear apartment legally entitled you 24 THE WITNESS: It would have been 24 to enter apartment number one on the first floor?

Page 18 Page 20 1 1 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. information saying that this door led only 2 2 Officer, you can answer. to the first floor apartment, then we would 3 THE WITNESS: So there was no 3 not have been legally able to enter. 4 indication on the front door that this was 4 BY MR. WEST: 5 apartment one only. 5 Q. Okay. 6 BY MR. WEST: 6 A. But I will also indicate that on the 7 Q. I understand. That is a separate issue. 7 front of the property there were two mailboxes. 8 I'm just asking -- if you can just answer the 8 Q. Uh-huh. All right, sir. Did you hear 9 question I am asking. 9 the dog barking before the door was breached? 10 Did you -- was it your understanding that 10 A. I did not. 11 the warrant for the second floor rear apartment 11 Q. Do you know if the dog was barking before 12 gave you a legal right to enter apartment number 12 the door was breached? 13 one on the first floor where Ms. Alvarado lived? 13 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 14 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 14 Officer, you can answer. 15 But Officer, you can answer. 15 THE WITNESS: I don't recall, no. 16 THE WITNESS: I will answer the 16 BY MR. WEST: 17 same. There was no indication that this 17 Q. Okay. So could you explain to me at the 18 front door was apartment one only. It would 18 time that the door was breached, where were you 19 lead any reasonable person to believe that 19 physically standing? 20 this front door may have led to or more than 20 A. I would have been -- I would have been 21 likely led to two different doors which 21 six officers back from the front door. So I 22 would have been your client's door and the 22 was -- I would say I was approximately 20 to 25 23 second floor door. 23 feet away from the front door. 24 BY MR. WEST: 24 Q. Okay. All right. I will try to make --Page 19 Page 21 1 Q. Sure. So if you had known that the door 1 just from my notes I have written down here one 2 on the first floor led directly into apartment through six. 3 number one, would you believe that the warrant 3 A. Uh-huh. 4 legally authorized you to open that door? 4 Q. So I will put -- I will put you for six. 5 5 A. No. A. Uh-huh. 6 6 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. Q. And who do you believe was the nearest to 7 7 But Officer, you can answer. the door at the time that this -- make sure we are 8 8 THE WITNESS: No. I will answer no. on the same page, at the time the door was 9 9 BY MR. WEST: breached? 10 10 Q. Okay. And could you clarify when you say A. Sure. It would have been our two 11 11 breachers were the first -- were the first two at no, what do you mean? 12 12 the door. A. If there was an indication on this front 13 13 door that this was apartment one only, we would O. Uh-huh. 14 14 not be able to legally enter the property without A. So that would have been I believe it was 15 15 Officer Murray and Officer Clark. further information indicating where the entry 16 would be or where the stairwell would be to get to 16 Q. Okay. And who do you believe was number 17 the second floor. 17 three? 18 18 Q. Okay. But you understood even back in A. Number three would have been Officer 19 19 June 2021 that if that door led directly into Ms. Song. 20 2.0 Alvarado's apartment, it was illegal for you to Q. Okay. 21 21 walk through that door, correct? A. Then it would have been Officer Hamoy, 22 22 H-A-M-O-Y. And then Lieutenant Monk, M-O-N-K. MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 23 23 Q. Okay. All right. And of these six Officer, you can answer. 24 24 THE WITNESS: If there was people, did anyone have any like command or

Page 22 Page 24 1 1 supervision over the other officers? Officer, you can answer. 2 2 A. Lieutenant Monk. THE WITNESS: Repeat the question. 3 O. Lieutenant Monk did. correct? 3 BY MR. WEST: 4 4 Q. If you had known that there was a rear 5 Q. Okay. All right. Did you see anyone 5 entrance, do you think that may have affected your 6 knock on the front door before the door was 6 understanding of what door was the way to get into 7 breached? 7 the rear apartment? 8 A. I didn't see anyone. But you know, we 8 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. 9 knock and announce with, you know, a loud 9 Officer, you can answer. 10 boisterous, you know, just to let somebody know 10 THE WITNESS: All properties have 11 that we are there for a warrant. 11 rear entrances. So it would be hard to know 12 Q. I understand that it's your understanding 12 whether that rear entrance went straight up 13 that under the policies and procedures there's 13 to second floor, unless you were actually 14 supposed to be a knock before the door is 14 inside the property. 15 breached, correct? 15 BY MR. WEST: 16 A. Sure. 16 Q. Okay. How long -- you're on the SWAT 17 Q. But is it your testimony that you have no 17 team, right? 18 specific recollection of seeing anyone knock that 18 A. Yes. 19 day? 19 Q. So when did you first join the 20 A. I wouldn't have been able to see the 20 Philadelphia Police Department? 21 front door, because it was set back off of the 21 A. 2006; November 2006. 22 property. There was -- it was kind of like -- I 22 Q. And when you first joined the 23 guess surrounded by the foundation of the 23 Philadelphia Police Department, what was your 24 property. So the door is actually set back a 24 title? Page 23 Page 25 1 little bit. 1 A. Patrol officer. 2 2 Q. Patrol officer. Had you ever been in law Q. Okay. Prior to the door being breached, 3 did you personally know whether or not there was a 3 enforcement prior to joining the Philadelphia 4 4 Police Department? rear entrance to the building? 5 5 A. Any property would have a rear A. No. 6 6 exit/entry. All properties have a rear Q. At some point you joined the SWAT team? 7 7 exit/entry. A. Yes. 8 8 O. When was that? Q. My question is, did you personally know 9 9 whether or not the property had a rear entrance at A. December 2018. 10 10 the time before the door was breached? Q. All right. And when you joined the SWAT 11 11 A. No. team, did you receive any additional SWAT team 12 12 training? Q. You did not know that? 13 13 A. No. A. Yes. 14 14 Q. Okay. You were aware that the warrant Q. As far as you're aware, you received all 15 15 SWAT team training offered by the Philadelphia was only valid for the rear apartment, correct? 16 MR. Page 5 Page 7 1 1 Q. Do you pronounce your last name I'm sure your attorney has already 2 Quintana? 2 let you know your only obligation today is to give 3 A. 3 truthful testimony based on your personal Quintana, yes. 4 4 O. Officer Quintana, thanks for coming knowledge. So just to be clear, as an 5 in this morning. My name is Keith West and I'm 5 introductory instruction, I'm not gonna ask you to 6 one of the attorneys who represents the plaintiff 6 guess or speculate at any time. Okay, sir? 7 in this case. It's Ms. Alvarado. Okay? 7 A. Okay. 8 A. Okay. 8 O. On the other hand, if you have 9 Q. I think you've been through a 9 partial information, we would like to know that 10 deposition before; is that correct? 10 because we want to know everything that you know. 11 A. Yes 11 If you can give us an estimate or an 12 Q. How many times have you been 12 approximation, please do so. Just let us know 13 deposed? 13 that you are in fact giving an estimate or an 14 Maybe three times in like 20 years. A. 14 approximation. Okay, sir? 15 O. In 20 years? 15 A. Okay. 16 A. Yes. 16 Q. So Officer Quintana, are you a 17 O. So I'm sure you're already pretty 17 member of the SWAT Unit of the City of 18 much familiar with the process. I just have a 18 Philadelphia Police Department? 19 couple of preliminary questions we have to ask 19 A. Yes, I am. 20 everybody and I'll just lay out a few things, so 20 Q. How long have you been a member of 21 you understand how this will work and we won't 21 the SWAT unit? 22 take took much of your time, I don't think. 22 A. Since January of 2002. 23 A. Okay. 23 Q. So you're at over 20 years at this 2.4 Q. In many ways this is similar to a 24 point, correct? Page 6 Page 8 1 1 A. Correct. normal conversation. The difference of course is 2 2 that our court reporter needs to write everything O. Now, our case involves an incident 3 down. So we have to be careful that we never 3 that happened back in June 2021 at Ms. Alvarado's 4 4 house. Do you recall this incident? speak at the same time and all of our responses 5 5 have to be verbal. She can't write down nods of A. 6 6 the head and that kind of thing. So all our Q. I'm gonna ask you a broad general 7 7 responses have to be spoken clearly and we're not question, you know, and maybe we'll save some 8 8 time. Can you tell me everything you can remember gonna speak at the same time. Okay, sir? 9 9 A. Okay. about that incident? 10 10 O. Also this is not intended to be an I remember that I was working with 11 11 Officer Miguel Rivera, R-I-V-E-R-A. For some unnecessarily uncomfortable or inconvenient 12 12 process. If you need to take a break at any reason, I can't remember his badge number off the 13 13 point, you want to grab a glass of water or top of my head, but we were assigned to rear 14 14 something like that, just let us know. Okay? containment for a warrant we were serving at the 15 15 A. -- at your client's address. And we arrived and 16 Are you under the influence of any 16 Officer Rivera and I went to the rear of the O. 17 17 sort of medication, substance, illness, anything property, which was -- it had a common driveway 18 18 that would impair your ability to testify and it had a small yard that was fenced in with a 19 19 truthfully today? four-foot fence and the rear door was facing to 20 20 A. I am not. our right. In other words, it didn't -- we 21 21 You've had a chance to confer with couldn't see directly into the rear door because 22 22 your attorney and you're prepared to go forward it had steps that came in on the side. 23 23 with today's deposition, correct? So at that point, we let the team 24 24 know that we were on location and after a few A. Yes.

2 (Pages 5 to 8)

Page 9 Page 11 1 1 seconds, at some point the -- we could hear the O. I apologize, sir. I'm not trying 2 2 door was breached and after a few seconds, we to put words in your mouth. I misunderstood. I 3 3 thought you said that you did park back there. So heard -- well, I heard one gunshot and I remember 4 just to be clear, I'm not trying to put words in 4 as they were knocking, just as they were knocking, 5 5 your mouth. or just after, an older black male and black 6 6 All right, sir. So this driveway female came to the second floor rear window and 7 7 area where you were in the rear of the building, were -- it looked like they were trying to get my 8 would that have been, in your experience, enough 8 attention. So I told them -- I kind of gave them 9 9 room for a SWAT Unit to have stationed an entry the signal to hold on and I let the team know that 10 team? 10 there was a black female and older black male at 11 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form, 11 the second floor rear window. 12 but Officer, you can answer. 12 At that point, I think -- I forget 13 THE WITNESS: There's plenty of 13 the timeline, if it was just after or just before 14 room back there. 14 the discharge. At that point, I signaled them to 15 BY MR. WEST: 15 come down. I let the team know that they were 16 There's plenty of room. If the 16 there and I signaled them to come downstairs and 17 SWAT Unit had wanted to enter through the rear 17 they exited from the rear door and I had them 18 door, there was plenty of room in that rear 18 standby inside the fenced in yard until the team 19 driveway area, correct? 19 at some point came around and made entry into the 20 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to the 20 rear of the property from that back door. 21 form. Sir, you can answer. 21 Okay, sir. So the back door that 22 BY MR. WEST: 22 you've described, there was like a cul-de-sac --23 What was your answer to the last Q. 23 it was like on a cul-de-sac, correct? 24 question, sir? 2.4 The back door, it was a common Page 10 Page 12 1 1 driveway. A. That was correct. 2 2 Right. Could you describe the Q. Q. Now, before you got to the 3 driveway? 3 property, had you gotten any instructions as to 4 4 A. So we came in from -- it would be what kind of property you were going to that day? 5 5 to my left. We entered the driveway from there That would have been on like a 6 6 and then kind of like parked our truck -- I think reconnaissance sheet. So I can give you my 7 7 we were on the street actually at the entrance to experience as to what kind of a description that 8 8 that driveway and it was just a large opening and would have had, but I don't remember off the top 9 9 you could see pretty much -- I would say, from our of my head, without seeing the reconnaissance 10 10 vantage point, maybe the rear of about eight or sheet, exactly what was written on that date. 11 11 nine of these houses. Right. Sir, just to remind you of 12 12 Right. So there's I think a large an instruction we gave at the beginning. We're 13 13 driveway that encompassed an area of at least just asking based on what you personally know. So 14 eight buildings, correct? 14 I'm not gonna ask you to guess or speculate or 15 15 Yes, the rear of these houses. tell me what you think would normally happen, just 16 And you were able to park your 16 what you specifically can recall now. O. 17 17 truck back there? In addition to the reconnaissance 18 18 MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form. sheet that you referred to, would you have 19 19 received any sort of verbal instruction or Officer, you can answer. 20 20 THE WITNESS: I don't remember if guidance prior to the operation as to what to 21 21 expect? we parked our truck. I want to say we 22 22 were on the -- we left our truck on the MR. ZURBRIGGEN: Object to form, 23 23 but Officer, you can answer. street. I can't remember exactly. 24 24 BY MR. WEST: THE WITNESS: Only if -- that would

So do you recall anything that Sergeant Mellody, or anyone else who did the briefing, said prior to this operation about what to expect? A. Nothing in particular stands out, no. Q. Were you informed that this warrant was going to be executed at an apartment building? A. No. There was no discussion about it being an apartment. Q. Was there any explanation as to what kind of building it was? A. A two-story property with a rear driveway. Nothing else in particular. Just a description of how we would get to the rear.	A. No. I could hear when they knock and announce and then I could hear the actual breach, like a ram hitting a door. Q. So when the ramp hit the door, that was loud enough that you could actually hear it hit the door from the rear of the building? A. Yes. Q. And you said you could hear the knock and announce? A. Yes. Q. How much time passed between the knock and the door being breached? A. I don't recall. Anywhere from 30 seconds to a minute. Q. When you say anywhere between 30 seconds and a minute, what's your basis for that?

After the warrant was served, he directed us, myself and Officer Rivera, back around to the rear of the property to get another really good look at it and we noticed that there was no specific markings and we discussed how there was no specific markings as to whether or not this was a different property. Q. Could you elaborate what you mean by that? A. Yes. We basically walked around to the rear and he looked at us and asked if there's anything in particular that we saw that would indicate that this was a second apartment, or a second entryway. Q. Sergeant Mellody had been responsible for doing the reconnaissance in the first place on this operation, correct?	2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 13 14 15 16 17 18 19 20 21 22	BY MR. WEST: Q. Clinical Evaluation

Client: Alvarado, Felishatay Clinician: Veronique N. Valliere, Psy.D.

DOB: 12/1/89 Date of Report: 10/24/23

Referral Source: Victims' Recovery Law Center Dates of Interviews: 7/12/23; 8/4/23

Reason for Referral

Ms. Alvarado was referred for an evaluation to assess the psychological, emotional, and social impact of an incident involving police officers who entered her home and shot her dog. Officers were attempted to execute a warrant and entered Ms. Alvarado's home, the wrong address. During the breach of Ms. Alvarado's apartment, officers killed Ms. Alvarado's dog and terrified Ms. Alvarado. Ms. Alvarado is involved in a lawsuit against the City of Philadelphia and multiple co-defendants for their "collective gross negligence, careless, reckless, willful and wanton disregard for the rights and safety of" Ms. Alvarado. The referral questions include:

- The nature of any psychological harm caused to the victim as a result of the alleged abuse;
- Whether the victim has recovered from the harm or continues to suffer from the harm;
- Her prognosis with respect to recovery, and how and for how long the harm will impact her life;
- Treatment recommendations if necessary, and if required, the nature, extent, and expected duration of the treatment.

Ms. Alvarado appeared as scheduled for her evaluation, which was performed on a secure video platform for a total of 3.0 hours, including testing. Testing was administered via secure link. Ms. Alvarado was coherent and oriented throughout her interview. She demonstrated no overt signs of confusion, incoherence, or psychosis during the interview. The purpose of the interview and the limits to confidentiality were explained. Ms. Alvarado understood that the disclosures she made, and the results of testing would be written into an evaluation for her attorney. It appeared that her competence to participate in the interview was not compromised in any way. There was nothing to suggest that her ability to consent to the interview was significantly compromised.

This evaluation is limited to the information attained by history, records, interview, collateral contacts, and test results. New or supplemental information potentially could impact the opinions offered in this report. If new or contradictory information is obtained, this examiner would require review of the information to incorporate that information into the formulation of this report. Any self-report can be impacted by bias. However, Ms. Alvarado's reported history was entirely consistent with the provided information. There is no reason to question the legitimacy of her self-report.

Qualifications of Examiner

I am a licensed clinical psychologist and have worked in the field of interpersonal violence for 30 years. I received my doctorate in Clinical Psychology from the Graduate School of Applied and Professional Psychology of Rutgers University in January 1993. I became licensed as a Psychologist in May 1995. I have gained my knowledge through my own studies and clinical work treating hundreds of victims of assault. Additionally, having evaluated, interviewed, and/or treated thousands of offenders, I have learned about the methods employed by sexual offenders and the dynamics of sexual abuse, along with the ways in which victims have responded to their assaults and the traumatic impact of sexual assault.

I am the owner/operator of two outpatient treatment centers, one for victims of violence and the other for offenders of violence. I provide treatment, evaluations, and consultation, as well as supervise the work of numerous other clinicians. I have served as an expert in courts across the country and internationally and with all branches of the military. I have served as a consultant and/or expert witness in over 150 courts martials and in many other trials as an expert in clinical psychology, forensic psychology, victim dynamics and response to violence/abuse, trauma, and offender risk, dynamics, and rehabilitation potential. I have also served as an evaluator in civil court in cases involving damages to victims related to abuse or assaults they have experienced at the hands of an individual or involving the neglect or failure to act by an agency or organization. I have served on the Pennsylvania Sexual Offender Assessment Board since 1997, performing thousands of offender evaluations.

I act as a consultant and trainer for many agencies and organizations. I have provided training nationally and internationally for such agencies as the Federal Bureau of Investigations, the Department of Defense, the Department of Justice, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, all branches of the military, and for agencies and institutions in other countries. I have testified regarding sexual assault in the military to the U.S. Congress and to the Pennsylvania General Assembly regarding a number of laws and issues involving sexual assault and violence. I have consulted with the Department of Defense and the U.S. Department of Justice in policy creation regarding sexual assault and understanding sexual offenders. I contributed to the Prison Rape Elimination Act (PREA). I have been consulted as an expert on sexual assault and domestic violence in media articles, and I have appeared on television and radio shows.

I have written three books published by Routledge Press, Understanding Victims of Interpersonal Violence (2019), Unmasking the Sexual Offender (2023), and Successful Prosecution of Intimate Violence (2023), regarding topics related to the substance of my Expert Report. The former is a guide for investigators and prosecutors designed to provide accessible information for personnel "in the trenches" with victims of violence to aid in understanding and explaining their behavior. The second provides information about the motivations, techniques, and dynamics of sexual offenders and their behaviors and outlines ways in which offenders manipulate and exploit others.

Compensation

Valliere & Counseling Associates, Inc. is being compensated for its time at hourly rates and, for its out-of-pocket expenses, at cost. My hourly rate is $350.00, up to $3500.00 per day. The compensation paid to Valliere & Counseling Associates, Inc. is not contingent upon the nature or substance of my findings or on the outcome of this matter.

Offense/Incident Information

Ms. Alvarado lived alone in Philadelphia, renting a first-floor apartment with her two dogs, three cats, and bird. Ms. Alvarado was living a quiet life, where she supported herself on Social Security Disability and occasional jobs she could hold when she felt well enough. Ms. Alvarado suffers from Von Willebrand disease, a bleeding disorder that prevents the individual's blood from clotting properly. She often felt poorly, with fatigue and pain from the disorder. Ms. Alvarado also suffered from anxiety and depression, lifelong issues that began in her early teen years, but worsening significantly since her mother's death in 2013.

After a period of depression and grief when her mother died, Ms. Alvarado adopted her Akuma, who provided emotional support and protection for her. He, along with Ms. Alvarado's smaller dog Penelope, became certified as emotional support animals in April 2021, to assist Ms. Alvarado with her "high stress levels." Her dog and other pets were her primary sources of solace and companionship. "My animals were the only thing I got out of bed for," she said, describing how her pets kept her going when she was severely depressed. Akuma, a pit bull, also helped Ms. Alvarado feel safe and protected as a single woman living alone in Philadelphia. She trained him well and he was "the love of [her] life."

On June 4, 2021, at approximately 5:00 in the morning, Ms. Alvarado was getting up and getting ready for work, preparing to get in the shower. She had on a tank top, wrapping her naked lower half with a towel. On the way to the shower, Ms. Alvarado heard her small parrot screaming "an alert," so went to her living room went to see what was happening. Suddenly, her door was smashed in, followed by numerous police officers. As Ms. Alvarado used multiple deadbolts on her door, the crash was significant. The officers began shouting and Ms. Alvarado's dogs began barking. She was ordered to sit on the floor, half-naked. Ms. Alvarado immediately called to her pit bull Akuma, telling him to "calm." He sat beside her and stopped barking. Ms. Alvarado asked the police to allow her to put the dogs in their kennel. However, the police "just shot Akuma." She said the dog was not barking or growling when he was shot.

Ms. Alvarado was immediately grief stricken when she heard the gunshot. Penelope, her small dog, ran to her, screaming and yelping loudly. Penelope was shaking and urinated on Ms. Alvarado, as Ms. Alvarado was sitting on the floor trying to calm the little dog. The police would not let her get up and would not tell Ms. Alvarado what had happened, simply commanding her to "be quiet, don't move." Ms. Alvarado felt panicky. She could not see Akuma but knew that he screamed when he was shot. Ms. Alvarado remained sitting on the floor for "a half hour." She saw one officer "kick" at the dog. After, Ms. Alvarado said that the police did not want to give her the dog's body. She had to advocate to get Akuma's body for cremation. When Ms. Alvarado did get her dog's body, she saw that he had been shot in the face.

The investigation revealed that officers falsely believed that Ms. Alvarado's apartment gave them access to a second-floor apartment where they were trying to serve the warrant. They ignored Ms. Alvarado when she tried to inform them that they could not reach the other apartment from her and had entered her home under problematic expectations. Ms. Alvarado had to remain on the floor on her knees, halfnaked, without information and terrified, smelling her dog's blood for about a half hour. During the incident, Ms. Alvarado's sister came over, screaming for Ms. Alvarado because she heard the gunshot and did not know if Ms. Alvarado had been shot.

Confidential Evaluation

Ms. Alvarado's apartment was left in chaos and the floor covered in blood. Ms. Alvarado could not bear to return nor to clean up the blood. Her sister Yara had to clean the mess. Ms. Alvarado moved to another apartment as soon as she could, staying with her sister for about a month until they could find another place. Ms.  had difficulty retrieving Akuma's body and then had to pay for his cremation.

Relevant Historical Information

Ms. Alvarado is a 33-year-old, single Hispanic female. She has an olive complexion, with brown eyes and black hair. She wore glasses during her interview. Ms. Alvarado is slender.

Ms. Alvarado was born and raised in North Philadelphia where she has lived her entire life. She was raised by a single mother of seven. Ms. Alvarado is the youngest. Her mother had her later in life, when her mother was 40. Ms. Alvarado has two siblings, a brother and a sister, with the same biological parents. She has numerous half-siblings. She grew up with her sister and two of her brothers. Some of her siblings are much older than her. Ms. Alvarado reported that her father "didn't want anything to do with" his children. She looked for him at some point, but her father was never in her life, leaving when she was six months old.

Ms. Alvarado described her childhood as having its "ups and downs," especially financially. Ms. Alvarado's mother is deceased, dying in 2013. Ms. Alvarado was serving as her primary caretaker as her mother had COPD, arthritis, and diabetes. Ms. Alvarado moved to Georgia after high school but returned after three years to care for her mother. Her mother's death "hit" Ms. Alvarado "hard." She became very depressed and withdrawn after her mother died, only "getting out of bed" to care for her mother's elderly dog. Ms. Alvarado adopted Akuma after her mother's dog died within the same year or so.

Ms. Alvarado denied ever having been abused as child, physically, sexually, or emotionally. She described school as "okay," but reported that she struggled with reading. She "never got help," not receiving an IEP or special education. She did not graduate high school and did not attain her GED.

Ms. Alvarado reported that she was "always sick" as a child. She was on disability beginning as a child, which she supports herself now with, supplementing her SSD with part-time work. She had German measles and has Von Willebrand's disease, a bleeding disorder characterized by blood-clotting issues that can lead to bleeding. She can feel tired and ill at times. Ms. Alvarado does work when she "feels okay," holding lower skilled retail and factory jobs. Ms. Alvarado did not work since the "incident," dealing with depression, anxiety, and fatigue. Ms. Alvarado may have recently gotten a part-time job as a companion for the elderly, which her sister pushed her to do to "get her out of the house."

Ms. Alvarado has never been married. She has no children. Ms. Alvarado has never been in a long-term relationship. "I like to be by myself," she said.

Treatment History/Substance Abuse History: As a child Ms. Alvarado suffered from depression. Her mother put her into therapy, but "it didn't work." Ms. Alvarado described herself as "quiet," saying she did not like to talk. It was hard for her to open up about her feelings. The therapists were unable to encourage her participation in treatment. Ms. Alvarado is currently in treatment to learn to cope with her trauma.

Ms. Alvarado has no history of substance abuse. She has never received substance abuse treatment.

Criminal/Legal History: Ms. Alvarado has never had contact with the law prior to this incident. She has no criminal history.

Interview/Behavioral Observations

Ms. Alvarado appeared as scheduled for her interview. She was appropriately dressed and groomed. Ms. Alvarado understood the purpose of the evaluation. She was coherent and oriented. Ms. Alvarado displayed not overt signs of severe depression, dysregulation, or difficulties with reality testing. Ms. Alvarado was able to participate effectively in the interview.

Interpersonally, Ms. Alvarado was very pleasant and cooperative. She spoke sadly much of the time, presenting with some depressed affect, though she tried very hard to be upbeat and optimistic. When we discussed difficult topics, Ms. Alvarado became sad, though she tended to brush off the feelings so as not to trouble me or concern me with her well-being. This was consistent with how Ms. Alvarado described herself and how her sister later described Ms. Alvarado, as not wanting to be a bother, not asking for help, and being reluctant to open up and be vulnerable about her feelings.

Ms. Alvarado was very simplistic and concrete. She was not able to describe her thoughts and feelings well, using unsophisticated language and terms to express herself. For example, when describing a severe level of depression that entailed not being able to get out of bed, not bathing, and not eating, she simply said she was "really sad." When describing symptoms of panic attacks and terror, she used the simple terms of "nervous" and "anxious." Ms. Alvarado does not have the language or insight to give a complex description of her inner life. This is at least partially due to Ms. Alvarado's limitations and history of learning disabilities. Her difficulties with reading and comprehension were recognizable and impacted her testing as well. Ms. Alvarado seems to maintain simplistic ideas of herself and the world, living a quiet, peaceful, and uncomplicated life. She was introverted and self-protective prior to this event, something that she has become even more so since she was violated.

Ms. Alvarado was cooperative. She did not try to evade questions or intimidate the examiner. She was not dramatic or exaggerating. She spoke softly and clearly. She did not display any problematic interpersonal behavior that would impact the interview. Ms. Alvarado did not seem angry, hostile, or retaliatory. She was very sad about her losses and conveyed a sense of fear and vulnerability. Ms. Alvarado seemed to be struggling with disappointment over basic expectations of how she was treated. For example, Ms. Alvarado said sadly when describing the officers shooting her dog, "They didn't even say sorry."

Interview Information

When Ms. Alvarado thinks about the raid she is "sad." "It makes me want to cry," she said, "I relive it over and over again." Ms. Alvarado is living across the street from her current apartment. After the incident, she could not return to her home, living with her sister until they could find Ms. Alvarado a new apartment. She "still smelled the blood" in her apartment, which triggered her and caused her to "relive" the killing of her dog and her fear. She did not want to go home anymore. Now, living across the street from her old home still reminds her and produces bad memories, but it is "not as bad." Ms. Alvarado cried "all the time" after Akuma was killed. She could not eat or sleep. She became fearful of police. She was "paranoid" all the time.

Ms. Alvarado suffers from significant fear and anxiety now. "My sense of safety is gone," Ms. Alvarado said, explaining that she always feels on guard and vigilant, even in her new home. "Every time someone knocks on the door," she said, "I am afraid. Every noise startles me. I am paranoid and afraid." This was not a problem before, even when she struggled with depression. "I feel unsafe all the time," Ms. Alvarado said sadly.

Ms. Alvarado has had severe sleeping issues since the raid. The police entered her home when it was dark, very early in the morning. Ms. Alvarado was vulnerable and unprepared. Now, she feels very vulnerable when she sleeps. She "always wakes up" during the night, "scared someone is coming in" her home repeatedly during the night. Ms. Alvarado also has difficulties falling asleep. Often, she stays up to three or four in the morning. Ms. Alvarado stated that she does not dream anymore. She had frequent nightmares that were terrifying. She would then wake up and "think about it" (the incident). Then she cannot sleep. Typically, Ms. Alvarado sleeps four hours, a disrupted sleep. At times she sleeps during the day. On good days, Ms. Alvarado will get "seven hours at the most" of sleep, but it is disrupted. Overall, Ms. Alvarado reported she has "never really slept after the incident." Ms. Alvarado eats less due to her anxiety. Her weight has fluctuated.

Ms. Alvarado has flashbacks and intrusive thoughts. She said she will be driving and "all of the sudden" she will begin to relive the event. When she hears someone knock on the door, "it triggers and [she] will go back to that day." "If I see a cop car parked near where I live," Ms. Alvarado immediately gets anxious. "It is improving," Ms. Alvarado said, "but I try to avoid them." Dogs that look like Akuma trigger sadness, anxiety, and grief for Ms. Alvarado.

The event has changed Ms. Alvarado's perception of police. She does not feel safe. This is a regrettable change for Ms. Alvarado. Her older brother is a police officer. She "used to have respect for" police. Now she does not trust them.

Ms. Alvarado has struggled with a number of practical changes in her life. Ms. Alvarado moved to another apartment about a month after the event. Her new apartment is smaller. It is also on the second floor. Ms. Alvarado has to carry all her groceries and goods up a fire escape. She must use the fire escape regardless of the weather to leave or enter her apartment. She also has to use it to walk her dogs. Penelope is fearful of the stairs, so Ms. Alvarado must carry her up and down. Ms. Alvarado used to be on the first floor. The move has caused some "inconvenience." She has fallen on the fire escape twice, as it is slippery in the winter and rain. It is also hot in the summer, as it is metal.

Ms. Alvarado has lived alone since her mother's death. She was not afraid to live alone, especially because of Akuma. Now, she feels afraid to live by herself. She is aware of men on her "corner" who see her go in and out of her apartment without her big dog. "I lost my sense of protection without my dog," she said. Her new apartment is "more in the open" as well, more visible to strangers being close to a bus stop. She does not walk the dogs as she used to because she does not feel safe.

Ms. Alvarado has a history of major depression, repeatedly triggered by loss and grief. Ms. Alvarado said that her depression began when she was 13, after her grandmother, that she was close with, died of cancer. Ms. Alvarado helped care for her grandmother. After her grandmother died, it "left [Ms. Alvarado] feeling empty and sad." She began having trouble sleeping. She would not eat. This became an issue quickly as Ms. Alvarado said she was "not a big eater ever – never really ate a lot." She lost weight. Her mother put her in treatment. Ms. Alvarado described being seriously depressed after her mother died. Ms. Alvarado was her caretaker for years and was devastated by her mother's death.

After Ms. Alvarado's mother's death, Ms. Alvarado got Akuma, the dog that was killed by police. Akuma served as her emotional support dog, helping her with her depression and anxiety. He was very well-trained. He was nine years old when he was killed, spending almost all his life with Ms. Alvarado. Ms. Alvarado said that she and Akuma had a "very deep bond." He helped her begin to function again after she lost her mother. "My animals were the only reason I got up in the morning," she explained, saying her depression and grief were severe at the time. She was having trouble getting out of bed, caring for herself, and leaving her house. Her pets' needs were her motivation. Ms. Alvarado got another small dog, Penelope, after she got Akuma. They kept each other company as well.

Penelope has been traumatized by being present for the raid and killing of Akuma. Ms. Alvarado stated that Penelope is now anxious, scared of loud noises, and afraid of strangers. Ms. Alvarado also has a small parrot, a conure, that has been impacted by the raid. Ms. Alvarado described how her bird was "screaming" throughout the event, adding to Ms. Alvarado's fear and the chaos that ensued. The bird now screams at loud noises, is more anxious, and reacts with fear if Ms. Alvarado picks up her broom or a stick. The bird is a bit more aggressive as well, prone to bite if it is nervous.

Ms. Alvarado is currently in therapy to address her trauma symptoms. She reported that this is "sometimes in zoom, sometimes in person." She said that her therapist gave her useful "breathing exercises." She attends every two weeks. Ms. Alvarado will not take medication for her anxiety and depression. She is fearful of becoming "addicted," so relies on prayer, natural remedies, and herbs. Ms. Alvarado is exerting effort in to feeling better and dealing with her symptoms. "I try to control the way I feel," she said, "I use treatment and coping. I try to clear my mind when I am overwhelmed."

Ms. Alvarado's primary coping is to rely on God. "I leave it up to God," she said, "It helps me a lot – prayer." Ms. Alvarado has returned to church after the incident. She said her mother always "talked about God," so Ms. Alvarado finds solace in leaning on God.

Collateral Interviews – Yara Alvarado (sister)

This examiner interviewed Ms. Yara Alvarado over the phone for approximately 25 minutes. Ms. Alvarado identified her sister as someone she was close to and who had observed the impact of the incident on Ms. Alvarado. Ms. Yara Alvarado speaks to her sister on an almost daily basis. They were close before the incident. Ms. Alvarado lived with Yara for about a month after the incident, until she was able to help Ms. Alvarado get another apartment. Ms. Alvarado did not feel safe in the apartment that was breached.

Directly after the incident, Yara was fearful for Ms. Alvarado's mental health. For instance, she explained what Ms. Alvarado did in her new apartment, which concerned Yara. "It was like the movie A Beautiful Mind," she said, "There were papers pasted all over the walls." These "papers" were inspirational and coping quotes that Ms. Alvarado had put up all over to help her deal with her anxiety and grief. According to her sister, Ms. Alvarado has a "very hard time expressing herself" and sharing her feelings. "She is trying to prove she is so strong," Yara explained. Yara encourages Ms. Alvarado to go to therapy. Yara added, "Going to Church helps her." Yara explained that Ms. Alvarado has gotten more involved in church, which has been the "most helpful." "the Church is pulling her out of depression some," Yara stated.

Yara has noticed numerous changes in her sister. Ms. Alvarado has gone into a "very bad depression" since Akuma was killed, according to Yara. She also has become reactive and hypervigilant. "If someone knocks, she is paranoid," Yara explained. Yara must give Ms. Alvarado plenty of notice when she is coming to visit, something that was not previously necessary. When she hears sirens, Ms. Alvarado "tenses up and looks around." Ms. Alvarado's "nerves are really bad." "She is very jumpy," said Yara. The most upsetting thing for Yara to witness is that Ms. Alvarado "has lost her sense of safety – she doesn't feel safe."

Ms. Alvarado has withdrawn from relationships with friends and family. The only family Ms. Alvarado associates with is Yara. She is not engaged with nephews she was once close to since the incident. Ms. Alvarado cannot have children, so her "animals are her children."

Ms. Alvarado has changed in other ways. "She was always dolled up all the time," Yara said, "Now, she doesn't wear makeup. She wears pajama bottoms, baggy clothes. She doesn't comb or do up her hair." Ms. Alvarado has "dropped a lot of weight." Ms. Alvarado has always been vegan, but now only eats "rice and potatoes." "I have to get on her to eat properly," Yara said. For a while after the incident, Ms. Alvarado was not leaving the house "for days and days." Yara recently helped get Ms. Alvarado a part-time job being a companion for the elderly. Ms. Alvarado will now go out, and enjoys her job, but takes two of her dogs "everywhere she goes."

Confidential Evaluation

Another new and compulsive behavior Yara has noticed is that Ms. Alvarado has been "collecting pets" ever since Akuma was killed. She said Ms. Alvarado has adopted two more dogs since she was interviewed for her evaluation. Ms. Alvarado now has four dogs, four cats, and a bird. Yara had to force Ms. Alvarado to give up an opossum baby she found on the street and was trying to raise. "She is trying to fill the void," Yara explained. Ms. Alvarado is now demonstrating what Yara described as "attachment issues." "She wants to rescue everything she sees," Yara said. Ms. Alvarado allowed a strange homeless man into her shared basement and almost inviting a homeless couple to stay with her. "She tries to be everyone's superman because she can't be her own," Yara said.

Yara tries to offer Ms. Alvarado as much support and encouragement as she can. She helped Ms. Alvarado get a job, encourages her to go to church, and supports her involvement in therapy. However, she remains worried about Ms. Alvarado, especially because it is difficult for Ms. Alvarado to ask for help. "I just want her to feel safe again," Yara said.

Review of Records

Encounter Note - GPHA (3/8/23)

Ms. Alvarado appeared at the clinic to seek a letter to excuse her from jury duty. At the time she presented for care, she had the diagnoses of Anxiety Disorder, unspecified, Major Depressive Disorder, recurrent, and Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, chronic.

Ledger - GPHA

A ledger sheet from GPHA indicated that Ms. Alvarado had a psychiatric evaluation performed in July 2022. She participated in three mental health telehealth visits for a total of one hour and 15 minutes.

Testing Summary

Ms. Alvarado took the testing through a link to her cell phone. She was monitored via video and instructed to let this examiner know if she had trouble reading or comprehending any item. Ms. Alvarado did not report any specific difficulties during her testing. However, she informed this examiner that she had a history of reading difficulties and learning disabilities, something I told her might affect her comprehension, reiterating that she needed to inform me if she had problems. While Ms. Alvarado did not identify any problems while taking her tests, the test results both indicate some random and atypical response patterns.

Trauma Symptom Inventory – 2^{nd} ed. (TSI-2) - The TSI is a self-report instrument measuring symptoms of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder and other symptoms of trauma. It was designed as a broad-spectrum assessment of trauma related symptoms and behaviors. The scale assesses a wide array of psychological arenas including: anger/irritability; depression; intrusive experiences; anxious arousal; avoidance; dissociation; suicidality; somatic preoccupation; impaired self-reference; insecure attachment; and other trauma related symptoms and behaviors. There are two validity scales – one assessing defensiveness or avoidance, the other assessing atypical responding.

Ms. Alvarado produced a valid profile. Her score on atypical responding was elevated. This scale can assess over-reporting of symptoms, a cry for help, or the presence of symptoms that not all individuals with trauma experience. In elevated scales, the manual advises examining the individual items to see if the items are consistent with observations and self-report. In Ms. Alvarado's case, her score was elevated by an item regarding frequent flashbacks for several weeks and loss of memory for traumatic events. Ms. Alvarado did report intense, frequent flashbacks for weeks after the event, corroborated by her sister.

Confidential Evaluation

Ms. Alvarado showed elevations on scales consistent with her self-report. Her scores involving anxiety were clinically significant. The scales represent the experiences of hyperarousal, "jumpiness," fear, and panic associated with trauma. Ms. Alvarado continues to have clinically significant levels of intrusive experiences – unwanted and sudden memories, thoughts, or feelings associated with the traumatic event. Testing reiterates that Ms. Alvarado way of coping is to avoid thoughts, feelings, reminders, and triggers of the trauma, something she readily described. Ms. Alvarado's test scores also reflect her somatic or physical concerns, indicating that she worries about her health and symptoms that may be related to the depression and anxiety she had, but also likely reflects her chronic health issues. Finally, Ms. Alvarado indicated that she avoids intimacy and attachment. While Ms. Alvarado and her sister reported she has further withdrawn for social interactions, Ms. Alvarado described this as a pre-existing issue for her. Overall, Ms. Alvarado's score on the Posttraumatic Stress scale was clinically significant.

Personality Assessment Inventory (PAI) – The PAI is a 344 item, self-administered personality inventory that assesses numerous domains in the individual's personality functioning, including self-concept, clinical syndromes and symptoms, and interpersonal issues. It has four validity scales, including measurements of inconsistent responding, positive and negative impression management, and unusual responding. It is also useful in assessing exaggeration and potential malingering, important areas for examination in a forensic evaluation.

Ms. Alvarado produced a valid profile. However, she demonstrated some elevation on the scale for unusual responses, potentially related to confusion, reading difficulties, or unique interpretations of items. Given this score, her profile should be interpreted with caution. Ms. Alvarado's profile indicated some level of defensiveness as well, a reluctance to admit even common issues. Ms. Alvarado's score indicate that she may attempt to present as functioning better than she actually is, something she demonstrated in her interview and corroborated by her sister.

Ms. Alvarado's testing did not reveal any serious clinical pathology indicative of a severe mental illness or personality pathology. However, her scale scores reveal her suspiciousness, anxiety, depression, fears, and unhappiness. Ms. Alvarado's results reflect her distrust in her environment, hypervigilance to harm, and distrust of other people's motives. Ms. Alvarado has somatic complaints, consistent with her chronic illness and the somatic symptoms of her anxiety and depression. Ms. Alvarado reported ineffective efforts in coping with her fears and anxieties at times, choosing to avoid reminders or situations that evoke her fear versus being able to cope with those fears. She may struggle with agoraphobia. Ms. Alvarado's profile indicates that she experiences the physiological symptoms associated with depression, like sleep disturbances, fatigue, and eating issues, as well as symptoms related to anxiety, like pounding heart, trembling, and sweaty hands.

Ms. Alvarado's profile reiterated her social isolation. She maintains detachment from others; intimacy may be uncomfortable or threatening. Others may perceive her as aloof and unemotional. She tends to keep her environment predictable but has few reliable social supports. She is unlikely to be willing to be vulnerable and open to discussing her problems. Ms. Alvarado's strength lies in her stable sense of self. She believes she is goal-driven and has a sense of purpose.

Ms. Alvarado's profile is consistent with her interview presentation, self-report, and history. She has limited supports, has lived an introverted life with few relationships, and has a chronic disease that worries her. She is fearful of leaving her home, hypervigilant about her environment, and mistrustful of others. She has described losing any sense of safety, something that has magnified her shy and introverted behavior. Ms. Alvarado is fearful of leaving the home and struggles with anxiety about the unknown and unpredictable since the event.

Diagnostic Summary/Offense Impact Analysis

Ms. Alvarado is a peace-loving, introverted, simple individual who made a life for herself with a chronic disorder and difficulties with learning. Ms. Alvarado has a history of depression and anxiety beginning in her early adolescence that was triggered by loss and death. An episode of Major Depression recurred following the death of her mother. She found a means to cope with her issues and rise out of her depression with the love and companionship of her pets, especially Akuma, who she used for protection and emotional support.

Ms. Alvarado suffered a tragedy, in both the violation of her home and sanctuary and the killing of her dog Akuma. This event triggered a recurrence of her Major Depression because she suffered a significant loss and experienced the related grief. Historically, loss has been a serious challenge for Ms. Alvarado. It was again, resulting in daily crying, loss of eating, sleep disturbances, dysphoria, and loss of self-care. Ms. Alvarado experienced a Major Depressive episode following the death of her dog, characterized by depressed mood, loss of interest, sleep disturbances, fatigue, problems concentrating and coping, and appetite problems. Ms. Alvarado reported a history of Major Depressive Disorder. However, she was managing her depression and the related anxiety prior to the event with police.

Additionally, since the raid and killing of her dog, Ms. Alvarado has developed a trauma-related disorder, suffering symptoms related specifically to the traumatic event, in addition to the depression. Ms. Alvarado can be diagnosed with Posttraumatic Stress Disorder. In diagnosis of trauma disorders, the traumatic experience has to be experienced or witnessed and must involve an actual or serious threat of death or significant injury to the physical integrity of oneself or others. Subsequent to the event(s), the individual must develop symptoms characteristic of trauma that persist for more than 30 days.

It is evident that Ms. Alvarado meets the diagnostic criteria of Posttraumatic Stress Disorder and developed symptoms specifically following and related to the raid of her apartment. Ms. Alvarado demonstrates the following symptoms, meeting the full diagnostic criteria for PTSD:

- Intrusive Symptoms
 - Recurrent and intrusive thoughts and memories of the assault;
 - Recurrent distressing dreams/nightmares;
 - Flashbacks, or a sense of reliving the event;
 - Intense distress at exposure to stimuli evoking or triggering recall of the event;
 - Physiological reactivity to stimuli evoking the event;
- Avoidance of Stimuli Associated with the Trauma
 - Efforts to avoid any thoughts or feelings of the event;
 - Efforts to avoid situations, reminders, or triggers of the event;
- Negative Alterations in Cognitions and Mood related to the trauma
 - Persistent negative beliefs and expectations (lack of trust, fear of recurrence);
 - Persistent negative emotional state (chronic anxiety, fear);
 - Feelings of detachment and estrangement from others (betrayal, "paranoid," isolated);
 - Marked diminishment of pleasure or interest in significant activities;
- Marked Alterations in Arousal and Reactivity
 - Difficulty falling asleep and/or staying asleep;
 - Difficulty concentrating;
 - Hypervigilance and exaggerated startle response.

Ms. Alvarado described the symptoms above throughout her interview. Her reports were confirmed by collateral contacts, records, and testing results.

Ms. Alvarado is attending therapy, despite her pre-existing issues with describing and sharing her issues with others. She is using the skills she is learning to cope with her anxiety. Additionally, Ms. Alvarado is seeking solace and comfort in her faith and her optimism. She is challenging herself by working and broadening her range of activities, like walking her dogs. Ms. Alvarado continues to rely on avoidance as a major part of her survival with her symptoms. It is clear that Ms. Alvarado is not invested in suffering and is making efforts to improve.

One of the more momentous changes in Ms. Alvarado's life as a result of this traumatic event, is her loss of a sense of safety. Ms. Alvarado lived a protected and relatively modest, uncomplicated life prior to the assault on her home. She was comfortable and felt protected, where she lived and with her dog. Now, she fears that people will know she lives alone. She does not trust police. Ms. Alvarado has had to adjust to a new apartment with all the factors involved, like being closer to a bus stop. She did not leave her home for a time. Ms. Alvarado has a distorted and disrupted sense of trust, something that a traumatic event can create. Ms. Alvarado does not know what to trust so she vacillates between distrust and no regard for trust, like taking in a stranger. Individuals who are traumatized in situations presumed safe and protected, by people they were supposed to trust (like parents or police), can become ineffective and inaccurate at assessing risk and evaluating trustworthiness. She has withdrawn from some relationships in the course of her trauma.

Conclusions and Recommendations

It is my opinion, to a reasonable degree of psychological certainty, that Ms. Alvarado has suffered from a diagnosable condition, namely Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, in the past and currently that has profoundly altered her life. This condition is a direct result of the violations she experienced during the raid on June 4, 2021. Ms. Alvarado also experienced an episode of Major Depressive Disorder, triggered by the loss of her dog and safety, creating additional psychological hurdles for her to navigate. Ms. Alvarado has a history of Major Depressive Disorder and Generalized Anxiety Disorder, which were exacerbated by the traumatic event. Ms. Alvarado was managing her pre-existing mental health issues with the assistance of Akuma prior to police killing him. She suffers impairment in all arenas of her life: psychological; interpersonal/social; and functional.

My conclusions are as follows:

- Ms. Alvarado can be diagnosed with Post-traumatic Stress Disorder, which has persisted and is still very prominent in her experience. She is engaged in efforts to cope with her trauma the best she can with limited skills, primarily relying on avoidance as a means to cope.
- 2. Ms. Alvarado requires therapeutic interventions. Her treatment needs to be specialized to address her trauma and related depressive and anxiety symptoms. Treatment of trauma is a specialized treatment that may require a variety of techniques and interventions, including exposure therapy, EMDR, biofeedback, or other avenues to improvement. Alternative interventions may be particularly necessary for Ms. Alvarado, who is reluctant to or less adept at sharing and introspecting than other clients. Ms. Alvarado requires strategies and skills that a concrete and accessible to her, presented at a level she can best utilize. Her learning issues may make reading, journaling, or other more typical interventions less useful.
- 3. Ms. Alvarado's current treatment is inadequate. She is unable to have regular appointments, dictated by insurance and clinic scheduling issues. She should be afforded private therapy that is regular, available, and preferably in person. Effective therapeutic interventions as described above are not easy or doable via telehealth. Therapy sessions with a specialized therapist can cost between $150 $250 per session. A year of therapy will cost between $7500 $12,500 per year. Ms. Alvarado will likely require at least two years of therapy with decreasing sessions if she progresses. She may require a course of EMDR or exposure therapy, which may require more fees.

- 4. Adequate treatment of trauma can take years and require consistent participation by the client. If her symptoms increase, she might require a higher level of care, like inpatient or intensive outpatient care. As Ms. Alvarado is involved in her faith and uses her relationship with God as source of her strength, faith-based therapy may be useful for Ms. Alvarado.
- 5. Ms. Alvarado's treatment should also address her coping skills. She has few if any skills to process and manage her anxiety, fear, and depression, as well as her intrusive thoughts and memories related to the abuse.
- 6. Ms. Alvarado will struggle with her trauma for a significant period in the future, if not for the remainder of her life. She will experience permanent harm in the form of recurrent intrusive memories, fear and hypervigilance, grief, and anxiety. While she might learn to better manage these issues, it is unlikely they will fully resolve, especially given her preexisting vulnerabilities.
- 7. As Ms. Alvarado finds solace and relief from animals, she may benefit from a service animal for her trauma and anxiety to assist her in becoming more independent. A service animal differs from an emotional support animal in that a service animal is specially trained to detect and intervene in mental health symptoms, like those that accompany serious PTSD. A trained service dog that can accompany her in public may assist in broadening her circle and allow her to seek new and different opportunities for socialization and education. An animal that additionally offers her a feeling of protection, like a larger trained dog, will be beneficial.

All the opinions contained in this report are given with a reasonable degree of psychological certainty.
